NATIONAL COMMUNITY SERVICE ORGANIZES FOR GLENDALE WORK

Representatives of Parent Organization Explains Method of Establishing Recreational Feature for the City

COORDINATION OF AMUSEMENTS IN GLENDALE

Outlines Seventeen Different Interests to Be Represented in Permanent Development Which Will Function Here During Winter and Spring

In obedience to the summons of John Orput, representative of the National Community Service, Incorporated, who has come to Glendale on invitation to help in the establishment of a recreational center, members of the committee appointed last spring and representing a variety of interests and organizations, met at the chamber of commerce at 4:30 Friday afternoon for a preliminary survey of the situation and its possibilities.

L. T. Rowley presided and introduced Mr. Orput, who explained the work of National Community Service as an agency to organize communities to provide suitable amusements, develop all the local possibilities in the amusement line and coordinate all the agencies for healthful amusement. In other words, it aims to stimulate the lesiure time programs of existing agencies and to establish a community organization which will be non-sectarian, non-political and non-institutional. He stated that its scope is wide, that it cooperates with the Boy Scout movement and in communities where there were no Scout organizations it has promoted them.

It was made clear that the committee meeting was merely preliminary to the permanent organization which should consist of a board of directors made up of at least 17 different interests, named as follows:

1. Someone who is a real student of the whole life of the whole community.
2. Someone to voice the business viewpoint of the community.
3. Someone who can think in terms of finance.
4. Someone who thinks as school men think.
5. Some doctor interested in welfare work.
6. Some voice from the religious leadership.
7. Some labor leader.
8. Some representative labor woman.
9. Someone having an ideal taste of beauty for the community.
10. Someone who stands for good government.
11. Someone to speak for the home.
12. Someone representing women's interests in the large.
13. Someone who speaks as the young women of the community speak.
14. Someone to speak for the young men of the community.
15. Someone who represents amusements and the recreational side of the community.
16. Someone who represents the municipal interests.
17. Someone representing the exservice men.

Committee members present were asked to study upon this matter and come to the next meeting, called for Friday afternoon, October 20, at the same place at 4:30, with lists of men and women they were prepared to recommend as representatives of the interests suggested. In this way it was believed desirable candidates for such a board of directors could be secured. This building of the permanent organization was named by Mr. Orput as the first step in the work, "but," said he, "we will have individual leaders who will represent two or three interests. The board will perhaps consist of 40 to 50 men and women interested in all phases of recreation and each meeting will be an informal conference."

He then suggested the appointment of two committees, one on organization and one to plan the scope of the work, or a program committee, both to report at the next meeting of the temporary committee on the 20th.

Mrs. Nanno Woods suggested the possible use of the municipal park on Patterson avenue as a site.

Dr. Russell urged the promotion of outdoor activities before the rains begin.

The organization of a dramatic club was suggested by Richardson D. White and Mrs. Woods offered a club recently formed in her home as the nucleus of such an organization. Mr. Watson mentioned the dramatic organization in the high school and said Mr. Brewster of that department had consented to have his group bear the name "Community Service Junior Players," to be available for furnishing entertainment along that line when desired on programs. Mr. Watson also stated that the night school is prepared to furnish a teacher on any subject for which ten persons make application, and said if a sufficient number expressed a desire for instruction in dramatic work the board would supply a teacher and assign a place for the work.

Mrs. W. Q. Widdows spoke of the musical talent which had been developed in the grade and high schools which goes to waste after the students are graduated and which should be saved to the community and to the students by the organization of orchestras and choruses. This led to some talk of a community festival in which such choruses and orchestras and dramatic clubs would furnish the program.

Mr. Orput mentioned as one of the necessary committees a group to work out special community programs for Armistice day, Fourth of July, Christmas and the like.

LA MADRID CLUB EARNS $50 FOR CRIPPLES

Approximately Ninety Couples Attend Benefit Dance at C. of C.

A sum of approximately $50 was realized last night from the charity ball given by La Madrid club as a benefit for the California home for crippled children. This delightful affair was held in the chamber of commerce auditorium and there were about 90 couples present.

The evening was devoted to dancing to the strains of Jerry Parker's irresistible six-piece orchestra, which so kindly donated their services. Everyone there had a glorious time and dancing continued until midnight.

During the evening, delicious punch was served, having been donated by Mr. Henry of the Sierra Beverage company.

Patron and patronesses of the evening were Dr. and Mrs. Everett C. Beach, Miss Marion Sweeter, Mrs. Lillian Sweeter, Mrs. C. M. Smits, Mrs. E. H. Welty, Mrs. S. R. Frazee, Mrs. E. L. Schuyler, Mrs. C. A. Stockbridge.

Several prize dances were given, the first being a waltz. The couple who won the first prize for this was Miss Dorothy Scott and Harry Merriken. Second prize went to Miss Mary Young and Paul Hall.

A prize foxtrot was also given and first prize was won by Miss Margaret Longley and Robert Roach, while the second prize went to Miss Charlotte Winsell and Walter Ely. Each prize was a merchandise order, which had been generously donated by Hatz Women's Shop, Robinson's Men's Shop, Dewey's Glen Inn, Walcott's Beauty Parlor and Ostrom Studio.

There were several children from the home for crippled children present and one little girl, who could not walk when she first entered the home, was able to dance last night. It shows the remarkable work being done by this home and everyone felt that their evening was well spent in assisting a worthy cause such as this.

Time Puts One Over on Reeves

Father Time put another one over on Glendale's city manager on jinx day, Friday, Oct. 13, just as he did last year, so Capt. William H. Reeves, city manager of Glendale, celebrated his (?) birthday yesterday. Early in the day Mr. Reeves and his family motored to Pasadena, where they were joined by Theodore L. Sybertson, proprietor of Teddy's outpost in Arroyo Seco canyon, and his family.

The birthdays of Capt. Reeves and Mr. Sybertson occur on the same day, and as these "boys" parked side by side during the Spanish-American war, they have formed the habit of celebrating together. The affair yesterday was as per schedule—a two family affair, and "Cap" says he had a whale of a time.

Y. M. C. A. APPROVES OF THE GLENDALE PRESS' STAND

Glendale, Oct. 14, 1922.

Glendale Daily Press, Glendale.

Gentlemen: Allow me to add my word of commendation to you for calling the attention of the parents and charging them with their responsibility for their sons and daughters in the manner you did in your editorial entitled "While Parents Slumber."

Young people need companionship and friends. The home is the most perfect setting—the one suitable club where they might meet and enjoy others. The delicate relationship between father and son and mother and daughter must be kept inviolate for this.

If the boy or girl know that they may bring their friends home and that father and mother are interested and glad to meet them there will be little danger of them drifting away and meeting companions they would not bring home.

Many parents count on the Sunday school, young people's church societies, Scout troops or the Y. M. C. A. clubs to protect their children. All these have their real value, but after all it is the home that counts, and home doesn't mean a fine house.

We are sorry for the affair you refer to but glad to see some one put the blame where it belongs.

Very truly yours, REX C. KELLEY,
Secretary Glendale District Young Men's Christian Association.
Office of Secretary, 102 East Broadway, Glendale.

GLENDALE ELKS CAPTURE GOLF TROPHY

Team of Four Make Average of 85 at Santa Monica

It is reported that the clubhouse of the Glendale Elks' lodge will have to be enlarged to accommodate the huge silver cup which the golf team of the lodge, headed by Earl Patterson, won at the state convention at Santa Monica, Friday.

Other members of the team are Freeman Davis, Harry S. Webb and J. S. Hayward. Their average was 85, the lowest of all the competing teams made up of about 150 entrants. The players are modest, and disposed to minimize their performance, but officers and members are immensely proud of the record and of the silver trophy which will grace the clubhouse.

The drill team contest was won by Los Angeles No. 99, Bakersfield taking second place and Oakland third.

GRAND VIEW IS MADE WARM BY 200 GUESTS

Friends and Neighbors Enjoy Program at New Schoolhouse

About 200 neighbors and friends assembled at the Grand View school last evening to meet the principal and teachers. The program was snappy and up to the minute in interest.

Alexander Mitchell, president of the Foothill Improvement association, presided and gave the address of welcome in his usual pleasant manner. Miss Vera Sinclair, principal of the school responded for the teachers and Richardson D. White for the school board. Other talks were given by Mrs. Finney for the Grand View P.-T. A., Mayor Robinson, "Our City Father," Councilmen Lapham and Davis, Mr. Rhoades of the chamber of commerce, Mr. Sanders, assistant secretary of the chamber of commerce; Dr. Jessie A. Russell, president of the Civics committee of the chamber of commerce, and Chief of Police Fraser.

The music was furnished by Mayor Robinson, which insured it being of the very best that could be procured. Mr. Herwig, a newcomer to Glendale, sang two tenor solos, accompanied by Mrs. Herwig at the piano. Julius Kranz, noted Glendale violinist, played two of his own compositions, much to the delight of all present.

Refreshments of ice cream and home-made cake in abundance were served by the ladies.

Mayor Robinson closed the program with a number of musical selections, accompanied by Mrs. Robinson. The last number all joined in singing "America."

The hall and rooms of the school had been artistically decorated with red dahlias, carnations, cosmos and yellow marigolds.

The northwest section feels very forunate in having a principal such as Miss Sinclair and such a fine corps of teachers.

SPECIAL MUSIC AT THE PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH SUNDAY

ORNAMENTAL LIGHTS WIN IN VALLEY

Ornamental Electroliers Are Ordered for San Fernando Road

COST OF $2.40 PER FOOT

Work Will Be Rushed to Completion on a $14,818 Contract

At the meeting of the Glendale city council last night the contract for the installing of the system of ornamental electroliers on San Fernando road between Los Feliz road and Pacific avenue, was awarded to the H. H. Walker company, of Los Angeles, the contract price being $14,818.

It is understood that this represents a cost of about $2.40 per front foot to the property owners, there being something like 6244 feet of frontage effected by the lights.

The work on the installing of these lights will be started as soon as possible and it will be rushed to completion.

VALLEY ROAD TO CHANGE ZONE DESIGNATION

Protest Against Classing as Commercial District to Be Heard

The first step in the changing of the west side of San Fernando road from Los Feliz road to Pacific avenue from an industrial to a commercial district, was taken at the meeting of the Glendale council last night. The hearing of protests against this work was set for October 16.

This step was taken on a petition of the property owners along that stretch, it being claimed that the east side of this road along this distance already is a commercial district. A 52 per cent petition was presented by L. H. Wilson. One of the petitioners stated that he thought a 100 per cent petition could be secured if all the property owners were visited.

MUSIC SECTION HOLDS FIRST MEETING

The music section of the Tuesday Afternoon club held its first meeting of the season on Friday, October 13, at the home of Mrs. Warren Roberts, 617 East Elk avenue, the curator of the section.

During the business session plans were discussed for the coming season, elaborate in detail, assuring the members of this section a season of educational, cultural and musical enjoyment with programs delightful and inspiring, the first of which follows, the artists being introduced by Mrs. Calvin Whiting:

Desert Suite: Mirage, The Oasis. The Mecca, Grunn, played by Miss Alma M. Geiger.

Down in the Desert, Gertrude Ross.

O, Golden Sun, Grace Freeby

Life's Weaving, Homer Grunn, sung by Mrs. Beatrice Huntley Cavanah.

Recollections, Kranz.

Enchantment, Kranz.

In Flanders Field, Howard Edward Cavanah.

Ballade, Hasselmans.

Selected, Mrs. Enona Hopkins

Selections from "The Thunderbird," Cadman, Miss Alma M. Geiger.

This delightful program was enhanced by the appearance of Miss France Goldwater, the only feminine impdesario no the coast, who told of the difficulty of the artists of Southern California to get in and she made a plea that the artists living in a community and who gave of their talents willingly be treated with the same honor accorded other talent who were more amply paid.

At the close of the program delicious refreshments were served by Mrs. Roberts and three assistant hostesses, Mrs. Alexander Mitchell, Mrs. Helen I. Campbell and Mrs. Frank Weller.

Mrs. Roberts' home was a beautiful bower of many colored dahlias combined with greenery and the afternoon was a most enjoyable one.

The next meeting will be held October 27 at the home of Mrs. Frank Arnold, 215 East Lomita avenue, and will be a stunt party, with Mrs. Virginia Freeman in charge.

GLENDALE'S SEPTEMBER PERMITS PLACE CITY AS FIFTH IN STATE RECOR

Total of $647,720 for September Is Topped Only by L Angeles, Long Beach, San Diego and Pasadena

MONTHLY NEW TOTAL IS CREATED HE

Charmed Expansion of District Leads to Development the Community After Summer's Delay Is Conquered by the Fall Return to Construction

By ALBERT MARPLE

Glendale was the fifth largest city in California in t number of building permits issued during the month September, according to figures which have just been c tained. The cities that topped Glendale's total of $64 720 were Los Angeles, $10,267,894; Long Beach, $1,31 438; San Diego, $861,980, and Pasadena, $788,43 Among the list of cities that took Glendale's dust we Santa Barbara, Santa Monica, San Bernardino, Bake field, Riverside, Redlands, South Pasadena, Oxnard, Hu ington Beach, Santa Ana and a whole raft of others. F the month of September Glenda permits for 1922 totaled $127, more than those of 1921.

Another evidence of the wond ful growth of Glendale is sho by the fact that the permits t far in 1922 are just $71,162 than for the entire year of 19 This year's total thus far amou to $5,028,219, while for the en period of 1921 they amounted $5,099,381. About three more d at the rate they have been goi will wipe out the difference, from that time on Glendale will going down hill.

Nothing seems to be able to h back the growth of Glendale. T city seems to have a charmed istence. Every day brings m permits for homes and busin blocks. Every section of the c is receiving its share of attenti At this time there seems to be "looking up" attitude toward east side of the city. The putt over of the hotel proposition a the fact that the railroad campa is about to make a rousing s cessful finish, is attracting the tention of the real estate men a investors of the city, and of th in the surrounding country. provements of that character c not be put through without an crease in the value of the prope for blocks around. These impro ments will doubtless lead to o ers, all of which puts a rosy h on the things pertaining to Glendale avenue section.

Brand boulevard, also, is maki its share of advancement. With t announcement of the plans bei drawn for the Kress building, the corner of Wilson and Bra along with a number of oth pieces of improvement work, thin continue to look bright for t Brand boulevard section.

Then there is the new busine section that is being establish by L. H. Wilson and several o ers on San Fernando road at Pa avenue and immediately to north. The improvements that going in there have resulted in rapid increase in the price of r estate during the past few wee

KIWANIS CLUB ENDORSES BOND ISSUE

By a unanimous vote at its luncheon yesterday the Kiwanis Club of Glendale voted to support the high school bond proposition at the coming election and to exert every effort to bring about the success of the bond. Many of the members made short talks urging the necessity of better school facilities, and expressed the opinion that it would be a calamity if the school bonds are defeated.

A. L. Ferguson, a member of the Club and Vice-Principal of the high school, gave some facts about the crowded condition of the school that should impel every voter in the district to turn out Friday, Oct. 20, and vote for the bonds. Mr. Ferguson said in part:

"Few people realize the crowded condition of our schools," said Mr. Ferguson. "If we want to have a meeting of the entire students body we have to bring the students into the auditorium three times before we can hold a complete assembly meeting. We had a Columbus Day program and the three meetings would hardly accomodate all our students.

People come to Glendale and the first thing they do is to inquire about our schools. When we tell them the crowded condition of the high school they will invariably go and locate in Los Angeles or some other city which is taking care of its high school students. We could not begin to take care of the increase in the high school next year if the new building was ready, if the increase is as much as it has been during the past two years. We are asked why did you not vote money enough at the last bond election. The reason was we voted at that time all the assessed valuation the district would stand at that time. The new assessment on property now allows us a much larger bonded indebtedness, and we must vote more bonds if we are to take care of the growing population of Glendale.

"We must provide sufficient room and facilities for the high school students if we want the city to grow as it should while the influx of people is headed this way. If we fail to carry the bonds it will be the greatest blow at the growth of Glendale that we could imagine, and I am of the opinion that our far-sighted citizens will realize this and vote unanimously for the high school bond propositions on Friday," concluded Mr. Ferguson.

N. C. Hayhurst, also a teacher in the high school added his warning to the members of the crowded conditions of the school and the enormous increase in students that is practically assured during the next two years.

PALMER AVENUE CONTRACT

The firm of Cornwell & Henderson was awarded the contract for the improvement of Palmer avenue. The contract was let last night by the Glendale city council.

SOUTH BRAND IS HAVING BOOM OF ITS OWN

Real estate is moving on South Brand, and not less than twenty business lots fronting this great "white way" have been sold during the past week. It may also be added here that North Brand business property is also on the move, but reports from the south side indicate that South Brand is up and leading the van by a big margin.

McMillan, Hanson & Schuyler, live wire real estate brokers at 122 West Broadway, hold the record on business property sales the past week. Peter Hanson and Wm. McMillan have sold eleven business lots on South Brand, and have several more deals pending. In speaking of the big jump in sales Mr. McMillan said: "People are waking up to the fact that South Brand frontage is a gilt-edge investment and are taking advantage of the low prices at which this property can now be bought."

The eleven lots, which were sold to as many people, brought over $60,000.

was the sun god of the ancient Greeks. He was the most popular of all the Greek gods and was a famous archer. He shielded the flocks and the fields and was a great musician. He was supposed to know the future and, therefore, at his shrine (Delphi) he told inquirers what was in store for them. The Greeks attributed to their gods all their own human passions such as love, hate, and jealousy.

COURT SHOPS TO ENTERTAIN ALL CITY TONIGHT

Wonderful Lines of Different Goods in Jewel Stores Displayed

By RUTH RYAN

Most of us have heard of "The Court Shops," but perhaps do not just know what stores are there and what a wonderful line of really "different" goods they offer. The proprietors are holding a formal opening this afternoon and evening and this will offer an opportunity to drop in and view these clever places of merchandising. They are located at 211-213 East Broadway.

At present there are ten shops occupied and each offers a line of goods most desirable to the buying public of Glendale.

There will be a musical entertainment tonight given by Kelly's Shrine orchestra, and all shops will be open for inspection.

The shops now occupied are The Lamp and Gift Shop, Russell's Shop, The Stocking Box, Dixon Sash & Door company, where they have on display all sorts of woods and designs for doors; Court Style Shop, where they make the newest gowns; Court Tea Shop, better known as Glendale's Exclusive Shop, where they serve luncheons and afternoon tea; The Hand Painted China Shop, which has in connection, Mrs. Sears, an expert painter; The Orient, a Japanese shop of gifts; Josephine De Mazes, exclusive hats, and in connection, the La Facile Corset Shop; and the last shop is occupied by the Glendale Special Bootery, with Mr. Goldburg as proprietor, who makes a specialty of foot ailments and the correct fitting of shoes.

If you have never visited these shops, tonight will be a good opportunity and everybody is cordially welcomed.

FAIRBANKS PACKS THE T. D. & L. THEATER

Douglas Fairbanks' great picture, "A Modern Musketeer," will be shown at the T. D. and L. theatre today and tonight for the last times. As usual this is a feature, full of pep, thrills, action and adventure, like all of Fairbanks' pictures. Do not confuse it with his recent "The Three Musketeers." It is entirely a different show. In addition to the Fairbanks picture there are two especial comedies that cause a laugh riot. All together it is a very strong, good show.

Sunday at the T. D. and L. there will be a double bill. Harold Lloyd, the comedy king, will be seen in his greatest comedy, "Now or Never," in addition to the celebrated character actor, Henry Walthall, supported by Marjorie Daw and Ralph Graves in the great film feature, "The Long Chance."

MAPLE COURT IS NEWEST TRACT OPENING UP

T. W. Watson Offers Sixteen Lots in Select Section

T. W. Watson is now opening a new subdivision which he will call Maple Court, as it lies just south of Maple St., near Verdugo Road. This plot consists of sixteen fine residential lots, ideally situated for home sites for those who are looking for close in, conveniently located property, at moderate prices. The prices range from $1,150 to $1,400 for inside lots and $1,700 for corners, and include all street work and water and gas mains paid.

This tract is adjecent to Windsor Court, the north half of which was subdivided by Mr. Watson and has been all sold out during the last six months. Since the opening of Meeker's Orange Manor, which lies north of this Tract a marked tranformation has taken place in this section. What was a year ago orchards and lettuce fields is now a rapidly developing residential community with all modern street improvements installed. Home seekers have purchased this property readily, recognizing that it is among the best that Glendale has to offer. It is located within three blocks of the new high school site, convenient to Colorado St. and Verdugo Road, and within three blocks of the Pacific Electric service on Adams St.

Maple Court, the latest subdivision in this section, will no doubt be in demand by home-seekers.

VAUDEVILLE BILL AT GLENDALE THIS EVENING

The Five Musical Kays presenting "A Musical Melange," which comprises selections from the classics to the very newest popular hits will be included among the five new acts to be included on the big vaudeville bill booked to open at the Glendale Theater, Saturday, October 14. Elestrice & company will offer that which they term a "Novelty Electrical Demonstration." Jackson & Arnold will contribute "Nonsense De Luxe." There are a bundle of laughs in this skit which are put over in sure fire fashion. Sindi Dale will present "A Cycle of Song and Dance."

Renewed belief in the high destiny of the motion picture, in its ability to enliven the imagination and touch the heart is aroused by watching Goldwyn's new Rupert Hughes picture, "Remembrance," to be shown Sunday and Monday at the Glendale theater for the first time.

It possesses in abundance those qualities usually lacking in screen entertainment—a truthful presentation of real human beings who behave as ordinary people do. Character is not sacrificed to a highly spiced plot or to rapidity in the succession of incidents, although "Remembrance" is not lacking in story interest or in the dramatic rush of events.

Mr. Hughes demonstrated in "The Old Nest" and "Dangerous Curve Ahead," his ability to pack more real human nature into a reel of film than any other man writing for motion pictures and now that he is directing his own stories for Goldwyn that ability is intensified. "Remembrance" is the sort of a photoplay that one remembers with pleasure long after having seen it.

"A Guilty Conscience" might well be called a travelog as well as one of the most interesting dramatic feaures to appear upon the screen this year. It will be shown at the Glendale theater tonight only and in addition to having Antonio Moreno as star, it has a notable cast including such names as Harry L. Van Meter, Betty Francisco, John MacFarlane and Lila Leslie.

WEST SIDERS TO MEET

A special meeting of the West Glendale Improvement society will be held next Monday evening in the school at the corner of Doran and Columbus.

MRS. J. H. SLOAN WINS PRIZE FOR HER GRAPES

With one huge bunch, weighing more than eight pounds, measuring nearly two feet in circumference, Mrs. J. H. Sloan of Kenneth road and Raymond street, won the first prize for grapes at the San Fernando valley fair, held in Burbank last week.

The prize reached here on Thursday. Just to show what grapes Glendale can produce, Mrs. Sloan brought the great prize winner to the Glendale Daily Press and made it a gift to the staff.

"It is a Red Emperor," explained Mrs. Sloan. "The crop this year is very heavy, but the prizes are not as good as last year.

"Still, I made $125 off the half acre of grapes we have. The rest of the acre is set to other fruit.

"These grapes require comparatively little water. I sulphured the fruit this year several times. Last year I did it six times."

Don't bet on the unexpected just because you have heard that it always happens.

Big Sales From Little Press Ads

Warren, the real estate man and agent for Sagamore Park, has expressed his appreciation of the classified ads in the Glendale Daily Press. Mr. Warren advertised three lots for sale last Friday, one on the corner of Loraine and Columbus, one on West Colorado, and the other on East Maple. All three lots were sold the following morning, the combined totals of the sales amounting to $8,850. Mr. E. G. Warren says: "When you advertise in the Glendale Daily Press, you get results."

ROY M'CLAY IS BACK IN CITY

J. Roy McClay was back at the City Hall yesterday, after returning from his trip to Lawton, Okla., where he endeavored to sell his ranch property. McClay will not take up his duties as bookkeeper at the city hall immediately, as he is planning to give his time toward building a new home in Eagle Rock. He said everything was all right in Oklahoma, aside from the fact that it was Oklahoma.

MERCHANTS TEAM TO PLAY SUNDAY

The Eagle Rock Merchants will again be seen in action at 2:30 Sunday afternoon at Eagle Rock Park, when they enter into an active controversy with the Glendale Knights of Columbus.

"Sonny" Hancock, the manager, says that with the present line-up the Merchants are ready to receive all comers and relieve them of all ideas of winning the high count on the score board. Despite the little season of bad luck Sunday, the "boys" are entering the field with all the necessary winning apparatus, and are going to show the Knights of Columbus just how elusive the desired count can be.

In regard to the opposing Knights, "Sonny" says that if three certain members of the outfit, including the two Doll brothers, are to be taken as a fair sample, a professional type of ball is going to be played Sunday afternoon. It is expected that there will be a showing of Glendale fans at the grounds Sunday, and Eagle Rock people are urged to come and outroot them.

OVERLAND IS 'PLUS' FOR COMFORT

"These are the needs of the day in personal transportation," said Geo. T. Smith, Overland dealer of Glendale.

"One—Economy. Economy in first cost plus economy in operating costs and economy in upkeep over a long period of use.

"Two—Comfort. And this means not alone the physical ease you have a right to demand from the motor car of your personal choice at any time on any sort of road, but the mental ease that can come only from the confidence the Overland immediately gives you of the quality in its design, in its materials, and its construction.

"Three—Power, with light weight. The ability to go wherever business or the lure of the road calls; power as expressed in those ample reserves of speed and pull which merge into practically effortless motion.

"Four—Completeness. A car whose first cost provides you all the conveniences of equipment you need for immediate use.

"Judged by these standards, Overland, at its remarkable new low price, is today the greatest automobile value in the world.

An Appreciation of a World Tribute

It would be ungrateful indeed if the builders of the Cadillac did not pause at this time to express appreciation for the tribute accorded by the public to the Type 61 Cadillac.

This improved Cadillac has received a degree of enthusiastic approval unique even in Cadillac's long-triumphant history.

The results logically accruing from such approval are evident. This has been Cadillac's most successful year. The greatest of past sales records have been exceeded by thousands of cars.

The new Cadillac hsa demonstrated, so convincingly as to leave literally no room for argument, that it possesses a degree of power and dependability unequalled by even the finest preceding Cadillac.

Is it surprising, then, that the allegiance of the vast body of Cadillac owners and friends has grown deeper and deeper—that all who appreciate the finer points of automobile performance have joined with the leading automotive critics of Europe and America in paying unqualified tribute to the Type 61 Cadillac?

Cadillac builders have known twenty years of acknowledged leadership. Yet at such tribute they experience a renewed enthusiasm for the accomplishment of their ideal—the production of the finest automobile that human ingenuity can conceive.

LIQUOR HEARING POSTPONED BY JUDGE

Anderson, Pinoges and Gilloland to Reappear October 19

The cases of Donald E. Anderson, Pierre Pinoges and Luster Gilland, jointly charged with transporting liquor in the city of Burbank, who were to be given a joint trial today in Judge Crawford's court, were postponed. Gilland and Anderson were present for the trial but Pinoges did not present himself and Judge Crawford postponed the case until October 19th at ten o'clock.

A number of local people were called as jurors, and were asked to reappear on that date.

"This court isn't to be fooled with," said Judge Crawford, before dismissing the jury, "if I have to send for Mr. Pinoges he'll stay in jail till the court is ready to try him."

Judge Crawford expressed his regrets that the people called for in the jury should be asked to appear again and in concluding said he would issue a bench warrant for the apprehension of Pierre Pinoges.

"This church," explained the vicar, who was conducting the visitor over the building, "is one of the oldest in Britain. Built in the reign of Edward II, it was at that time, etc.

"During the seventeenth century it was partly demolished, but sixty years later the east wing, which had suffered considerably, was restored," etc.

The visitor began to yawn. The vicar had been reciting for forty minutes.

"This," continued the clergyman, "is a memorial tablet erected to the memory of our deeply lamented, dearly beloved late vicar."

"An' I'm sure," exclaimed the grateful visitor, "I 'ope it won't be long, sir, before they 'ave one up to you on t'other side."

HOMESEEKERS TIDE TURNS TO GLENDALE DISTRICT

GLENDALE'S GOLDEN SUBDIVISIONS

The home lover will find in Glendale's many subdivisions an ideal home site for just the home he has planned. He will find lots running in a wide range of prices and a wonderful variety of location. The mountain home, the home on the gentle slopes or for those who prefer the lower level stretches there are sites in plenty. The phenomenal growth of Glendale is offering to the wise a golden opportunity to take wonderful profits from homes built in the subdivisions. Land is cheaper there and the rapid approach of congestion of the closer-in property is sending it beyond the reach of many—soon this congestion will have enveloped the subdivisions as well and heavy profits may be made by those who buy now. Further details of these subdivisions will be found on the inside pages of this section.

CITY OF ENTRANCING BEAUTY TO RISE ON SITE OF SPARR TRACT IN HEART OF VERDUGOS

Unified Central Plan to Bring Out the Wonderful Combination of Mountaian, Valley, Hillside Slope and Elevated Mesa

GOOD TRANSPORTATION AND SCENIC BEAUTY

Fifteen Hundred Acres Is Going Rapidly Under Local Buying of Old Timers, Who See Glendale Repeating Its Wondrous Growth

By MR. WALTERS
Sales Manager for Francis-Barnum-Walters Co.

When the "old timers" in Southern California, who are thoroughly acquainted with all the beauty spots of this "Sunny Southland," move their homes to a new locality, it is due to the fact that there is some strong attraction that leads them to change their abiding place. There must necessarily be a combination of many features. Scenic beauty, good transportation facilities and cultural environment all play their part in causing them to make a change.

It is because of these conditions which will exist at Sparr Heights, the magnificent tract of 1500 acres that is now being developed on both sides of the Verdugo road between Verdugo Woodlands and Montrose, that many of the old-time residents of Glendale are investing heavily in this new section.

They know the history of Hollywood, Alhambra, Oneonta Park, Glendale and other local communities that seem to have sprung over night from small villages into the full-fledged dignity of cities. They have seen values double, and double again, and fortunes made by those who got in early, and have evidently decided that they will be among the wise investors this time.

This is evidenced by the fact that although the first unit of Sparr Heights has only been upon the market about three weeks we have sold some $400,000 worth of property in that time.

Two large contracting firms have bought twenty-six and nine lots each, respectively, and in order to meet a demand that has already made itself felt, will construct a number of artistic bungalows. As all designs for residences must, before construction is allowed, meet with the approval of our board of architects, assurance that these homes will be very desirable is made doubly sure.

Plans are also being drawn for a number of stores in the business district. These must all be designed in the Old English style of architecture and when this business district is all built up along these lines it will prove very attractive to the eye.

Our dominant purpose in the development of Sparr Heights is that as we proceed, each step taken will be in accord with a unified central plan. We realize that, with this wonderful combination of mountain, valley, hillside slope, elevated mesa and rugged promontory, we have a rare opportunity of creat-

SOUTH EASTERN DEVELOPMENT IS AMAZING

Fifteen Lots and Four Houses Record of Week on Glendale Heights

Fifteen lots and four houses is the record for realty transfers in Glendale Heights for the past week according to Mr. Haddock of the Haddock-Nibley company.

That the new residential section of Glendale is going southeast at a rate that few residents of the city are aware of seems to be borne out by the wonderful development that is taking place in Glendale Heights and the surrounding section. Adams street has been hard surfaced from Palmer to the top of the hill and a contract has been let for the planting of 1260 trees.

WILSON BUYS BIG SAN FERNANDO ACREAGE

With a new close-in subdivision in view, L. H. Wilson, San Fernando Boulevard real estate dealer, has purchased from Louise Glassell Shorb, pioneer of the Glendale vicinity, ten acres on South San Fernando Boulevard, for about $75,000.

The acreage has been producing grapes for years. Mr. Wilson will subdivide the land within the next ninety days, he says, to meet the increasing demand for Glendale and San Fernando Boulevard property.

E. U. EMERY, PIONEER, DEMONSTRATES FAITH IN CITY HE HELPED TO BUILD

Starts Construction of Emery-Webb Block at Brand and Wilson with Vision of Demands of the Future

The confidence with which the future of any city is considered is evidenced by the extent to which the financial men of the community are willing to invest their money in buildings and other improvements. When the older residents of a city are willing to install improvements it would seem to indicate that the future of that city is pracitcally established.

This being true, it would seem that the future of Glendale is pretty well assured, as some of the oldest residents in Glendale are now planning for and carrying out improvements that will mean much to this city. E. U. Emery, one of the oldest residents of Glendale, who has been here for years and has watched this city grow from a mere municipal infant to a thriving city, which in its growth is second to none in the United States, has just shown his confidence in the future of this place by starting the construction of the Emery-Webb block, which will soon be under way on Brand boulevard just south

STREETS OF GLENDALE RESOUNDING WITH TREAD OF THE TOURIST HORDE WHICH GROWS AS WEEKS WEAR AWAY

Thousands of Pilgrims, Anxious to Taste of the Golden Opportunities of Southern California, Are Coming Here, Seeking Relief from Cold and Worry

The influx of the tourists from the north, south, east and west is on.

The streets of Glendale are being kept warm by the "back-Easter" and the "up-Norther," who is here looking for a place to hang his hat.

No one knows this better than the real estate man. He is the fellow who receives the calls from the prospective buyer. He is the walking information bureau—the man who sells everything but his wife and kiddies and who can tell the newcomer anything he wants to know, anywhere, anytime.

The real estate men of Glendale declare that during the past week there has been a wonderful increase in the number of calls for homes, lots, building sites, ranches, suburban property, and, in fact, every kind of real estate. These questions concerning real estate are not being made out of idle curiosity. The folks making them are tired of the hard times in other sections, this referring to practically every other locality in the country and the world. They are "fed up" on the cold winters and the extremely hot summers.

The wonderful climate of California and the remarkable business opportunities to be found here have been continually hammered at them by friends who have moved here and found them to be actual facts. A desire to participate in these heavenly conditions have led the newcomers to the land of Golden Dreams. They have come to see for themselves. Some of these folks have sold their interests in the East before coming West. They are determined to stay here "rain or shine." Others have retained their interests in the East. They hope that things are as bright as they have been painted, and while they are willing to take a chance, they do not see their ways clear to break off all connections with their former homeplaces before they "try things out."

The patter of the feet of these tourists is now being heard on the streets of Glendale. Their calls for homes are being heard on every side. They are reaching out for the truth. They want to know if there is anything to all those wild and weird stories they have been hearing concerning this section. Can they be true, they ask. To these entreaties, the people of Glendale are saying:

"Come and see. We believe we have the 'goods,' and we are confident we can prove this even to the fellow who is now a pessimist and an unbeliever."

A report coming from one of the large railroads whose lines lead into Southern California states that more than 1,000 tourists are coming daily into this southern section from the east and north over that one company's lines. One hundred and fifty tourists are arriving on every train.

A report from the publicity bureau of the Los Angeles chamber of commerce says that approximately 2,000 tourists are arriving in Los Angeles daily, and evidences prove that Glendale is getting more than her share of this number. This is a decided increase over the amount coming in this time last year.

Hotel Clark, Fourth and Hill streets, Los Angeles, states that at present that house is serving approximately 525 tourists. This is a substantial increase over last year at this time, and the management expects many more within the coming new months.

The publicity department of the Alexandria hotel, Fifth and Spring streets, states that that hotel is accommodating approximately 250 tourists. This is an increase of about 20 per cent over last year at this time. They expect many more the first of November.

With the arrival of these hordes of tourists naturally comes the call for real estate and homes. In this demand Glendale is being favored. She is one of the brightest spots in Southern California, and the tourist seems, even before landing here, to be aware of that fact.

Nothing can hold Glendale back. She is destined to grow, grow, grow. Her progress has just started. Notwithstanding the wonderful expansion of the past three years, which brought to this city the title, "The Fastest Growing City in the United States," she is still in her swaddling clothes. Nothing less than a world catastrophe can check her onward march.

Glendale has the "goods" and the world is becoming aware of this fact.

KENNETH HEIGHTS TRACT SHOWS KINETIC ENERGY OF ARTHUR CAMPBELL

Long List of Sales Are Reported by Handler of High Class Lots on the Slope of the Foothills of the Northwest Section

The long list of sales recently reported by Arthur Campbell of 110-A East Broadway, handler of the Kenneth Heights tract and exclusive property, seems not to have reduced the kinetic energy of that tireless operator, but rather to have opened up new resources. He has come back with another lengthy list of transactions put through during the past six weeks as proof of his assertion that business in the realty line in Glendale was never so good and is growing better all the time, particularly in the foothill district near the altitude of Kenneth Road.

Perhaps by this he means that there was never a better time for profitable investment, as he seems to be the agent for several capitalists who are making use of his judgment to turn their capital into surplus. The sales he describes were made in all parts of the city as he does not confine his activity to any section. They include the following:

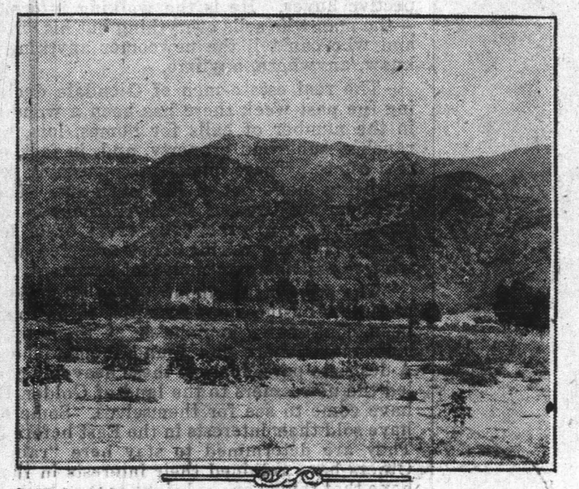
FAIRVIEW

NOW SELLING

LOTS 50 x 163 -- $750 and $800

$25 CASH AND $15 PER MONTH

IN THE PATHWAY OF PROGRESS AND PROFIT



First Unit of FAIRVIEW, Sept., 1921

Located right in the center of the most rapidly developing section of Glendale, the fastest growing city in the United States. Do you realize what this means? The building in Glendale is three times as great per capita as Los Angeles itself, and fourteen times as great as Detroit, Chicago or Boston. Never in the history of the world has there been an opportunity offered to equal it.

Glendale is a municipal whirlwind, and Fairview is located in one of the very best sections of this wonder city. One block above San Fernando Blvd., the main artery of travel from Los Angeles towards San Francisco; directly on the Pacific Electric line and close to the new Kenneth Road, contract for which has already been let.

With an unsurpassed view of mountains and valley, fine soil and drainage, Fairview offers ideal homesites at prices within the reach of any home-loving man and on terms so low that it is within the reach of everybody.

As an investment, FAIRVIEW lots are devoid of all speculation and possess visible qualifications for handsome profits that even the most skeptical cannot ignore.

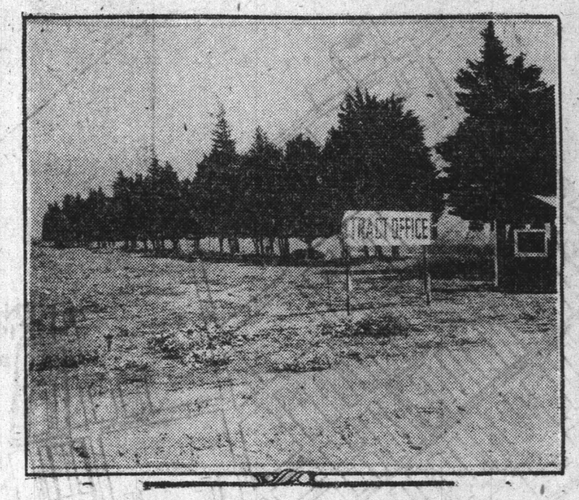
Typical House, FAIRVIEW

First put on the market about a year ago, over 500 lots have been sold and 150 homes built. The bulk of these lots have been sold to Glendale people who are right here and appreciate the remarkable values we are offering; people who realize that FAIRVIEW is in the midst of a development which has gained such momentum that increase in value is assured.

Contracts for all lots are issued direct by the Title Guarantee and Trust Co. and payments made to them. You take possession of your lot on the first payment. Race restrictions, moderate building restrictions, temporary homes permitted until better ones can be built, if of neat construction and painted. Prices include water, gas and electricity and temporary street work.



Tenth Unit FAIRVIEW as It Is Today

In 1914, you could have purchased lots in Glendale for $750 which are now selling for $2500, and we anticipate that the same increase in value in the next few years will be made in a much shorter time, because population is increasing much faster now.

If you buy a lot for $750, paying $25 down and $15 per month, your total investment in eight months will only be $125. If you then sell the lot for only $875 you will have made a profit of one hundred per cent.

HOME BUYERS HERE DEMAND SUNNY EXPOSURE

Home purchasers in California appear to be "sun worshipers," The facts, which were compiled by a prominent realtor, shows that of 160 purchasers of property in a certain subdivision, 60 chose locations on the north side of the street, while only 46 selected property on the south.

Thirty-eight selected lots facing the east, as against 16 facing the west. These conditions are the reverse of what they would be in the east, where climatic conditions are not so ideal as they are in Southern California.

"In the east," states this realtor, "people choose the south side of streets which run east and west. This is because extreme heat in summer time makes it desirable to keep the sun at one's back.

"In California, where the hottest days of the summer are mild and pleasant as compared to those in the east, people prefer to have their houses face the sun and receive all its benefits.

"The same is true of streets which run north and south. In the east, the average home builder plans his house so that the late afternoon sun will leave the porch and living-rooms cool. Sixteen purchasers in this addition selected lots facing the west, and 38, apparently desiring all the benefits of the morning and noon sun, chose lots facing the east.

GLENDALE HEIGHTS TRACT TO BE IMPROVED

Over a thousand trees will be added to the various improvements of the Glendale Heights subdivision and the Downing and Cox nursery here has signed a contract to provide the trees. The new subdivision has been open a little over six months and is located in South Glendale, with frontage on Adams and Palmer streets. Bottle, acacia and palm trees will be supplied by the local nursery, for the streets.

Saturday and Sunday afternoon meetings were held in a new pavilion, built on the Tropico hilltop of the Glendale Heights tract, to which the public was invited. Those who attended to the meetings heard interesting speeches about California and Glendale possibilities, and the future which is in store for this part of the state.

Many of the improvements in the new tract have been completed, including a considerable amount of paving.

of Wilson, and which will cost, with equipment, about $125,000; he being the heaviest stockholder. This building will be one of the finest of its kind in Glendale and will consist of two stories and basement. When completed it will house the Webb department store.

For years Mr. Emery has been watching the growth of Glendale. He has been active in the city's growth, has ever been ready and willing to do whatever he could to boost the city along. He is a man with a vision. He can see what Glendale will be in a few years from now, and for this reason he is willing to assist financially in the carrying out of an enterprise such as the construction of the Emery-Webb block.

Mr. Emery is also a heavy stockholder in the Citizens' Building company, which owns the Citizens building, the home of the Glendale chamber of commerce. He is a member of several of the civic and social organizations of Glendale, and is a part of the "backbone" of Glendale.

BURBANK BUYS SEWER FARM

An option has been taken on a tract of thirty-five acres lying north of the Southern Pacific Railroad by the City Trustees of Burbank to be used as a site for a sewer farm.

The property has a frontage of 50 feet on Brand boulevard and 90 feet on Maple. The new owner will improve it with a business block.

RENTAL DEMAND VERY BRISK, REPORT

Realty operators report a brisk demand for property to rent, chiefly separate houses as most new comers want some out of doors.

The principal call is for five-room bungalows at about $30 per month, close in, but those are not to be had. Mr. McCartney of Hayward and McCartney says they are lucky if they get anything desirable under $50.

ing a residential tract that will be a great departure from the ordinary flat land subdivision. With this end in view we are using the best technical talent and sparing no expense to create a beautiful, artistic and harmonious whole. There will be miles of broad, winding boulevards that will take one up to where picturesque bridle-paths winding through shady canyons will gradually lead to the crest of the hills from whence a view of the San Fernando and Verdugo valleys can be seen. Handsome parkways, a lovely park, an extensive golf course and a community club house are but a few of the many striking features of our development. When these choice homesites are occupied by the homes of the wealthy, cultured, leisure class, this "heart of the Verdugos" will be famous throughout the United States for its beauty and charm.

These will consist of palm, acacia and bottle trees. The downhill side of every drive will be lined with trees and the upper side curbed, and the roads hardsurfaced, according to Mr. Haddock.

Eighteen houses are already completed or in course of construction in Glendale Heights and the contracts have been let for eleven more so that the tract presents the appearance of a busy hive of industry. A unique feature, and one that Glendalians will always be interested in, is an open-air pavilion which has been constructed in the beautiful grove surmounting the highest hill on Glendale Heights. The formal opening of this pavilion will take place Sunday, October 15, at 3 p. m., and Mr. Haddock, whose talks have been listened to with keen interest at many local gatherings, will lecture on the wonderful possibilities of Glendale.

An additional feature will be the presentation of balloons to all children coming to the tract during the day, the only provision being that each child must be accompanied by an adult. Arrangements are also under way for the opening of Adams street, straight through to the Verdugo road, and when this is completed it will put the residents of Glendale Heights within one-half mile of a five cent car line.

The grading of the drive is practically completed and the hilltop unit of lots will be placed upon the market sometime during the coming week.

REMEMBER

Thirty years ago Los Angeles was a little jay town. Broadway, Spring and Main streets were dirt streets with board sidewalks. Los Angeles is destined to be the largest city in the world and its future congestion and confusion will ultimately force all high-class residential districts into the outlying sections.

Now is the time to buy that home or make that investment. Don't put it off until prices have quadrupled and are beyond your reach and others have secured the choice locations.

WHAT IF IT HAD BEEN YOU?

Suppose you had bought lots on Western Avenue, Hollywood Boulevard, Brand Boulevard, Glendale, or Colorado Street, Pasadena, when they were first offered for sale?

We are offering you a similar opportunity in what is to be the segregated business district of Sparr Heights, the superb 1500-acre residential tract just placed upon the market.

We could fill this space with adjectives descriptive of this magnificent property. All we ask, however, is that you drive out and look it over.

Get the vision of what it will be when we have spent $2,000,000 on improvements—when the hills, slopes, valleys and canyons will be covered with the artistic homes of the wealthy, cultured, leisure class.

Sparr Heights will have a population of 40,000 with an annual purchasing power of $16,000,000.

HAMLIN AND HEPBURN PROVE VISION IN THE SUCCESS OF FAIRVIEW

Against All Advice They Make Monumental Success of Sale of Tracts by Lots Instead of by Acres

When Hamlin & Hepburn, subdividers of Fairview, secured the first ten acres in the northwest part of the city of Glendale they were advised by a great many people that it should be subdivided and sold as acres instead of lots. This opinion was doubtless expressed because no building to speak of had taken place in that district and the land was devoted mostly to the raising of potatoes, tomatoes and melons. There was no water, gas or electricity on the land and it did seem to some people that it was a long ways from being a settled community.

Hamlin & Hepburn, however, had faith that this beautiful territory, close to boulevards and electric car transportation would appeal to homeseekers and that lots sold at reasonable prices and on reasonable terms would find a ready market. Their judgment in the matter has been justified.

In the last year over 500 lots have been sold and 150 homes built, streets have been put in, over two miles and half of water mains installed, about the same amount of gas mains, electric lines, street lights, and now about two miles of 3-inch macadam pavement, curbs and sidewalks are about to be installed.

Not only have all these improvements been made, but population has actually come, so that today it is a thriving, fast-developing section of the wonder city of Glendale. Approximately half of the pupils in the new Grand View school are from Fairview.

Besides the new street work in the tract itself which will cover Fourth street from Western avenue to Elm, Glenwood road from Western avenue to Elm and Raymond avenue, Thompson avenue, Irving avenue, Allen avenue and Linden, from Fourth street to Glenwood road. Kenneth road is to be opened with macadam pavement, curbs and sidewalks along the entire north end of the tract.

The ninth unit of Fairview, put on the market about a month ago, is now completely sold and the tenth unit is about half sold. There is no other section in the city of Glendale where lots can be purchased for such a reasonable price and on exceptionally low terms, only $25 cash being required to secure a contract for a lot with payments of $10 and $15 per month.

Hamlin and Hepburn believe that every family should own its own home and that if it is impossible at once to have a six, eight or ten thousand dollar place, that it is better to have a start with a smaller place. To help people who have heretofore rented, to get a start with a home, they not only sell the lot at terms within the reach of everybody, but they assist purchasers in making financial arrangements to put up temporary homes of neat construction at once. In this way the rent money is diverted to payments on the purchaser's own property.

Since Hamlin & Hepburn started subdividing in this section, at least six different subdivisions have been opened up surrounding them on all sides, and in all cases the prices asked for the property are nearly double the price of lots in Fairview.

HOMES ARE BEING RAPIDLY SOLD IN CITY

The lovely stucco home of I. Cline and A Burson being finished on Dorothy Drive was sold by Mrs. E. P. Ranson to J. Jacob of Chicago.

The Ranson home on North Maryland, also a beautiful stucco, built by I. Cline has also been sold to Mr. and Mrs. Hodgson, of England.

Mr. Hodgson is manager of Coulter's Dry Goods store in Los Angeles.

Mr. Ranson is preparing to start another home in Glendale. Later he will build in Eagle Rock.

JAMES W. FOLEY

THE BOY AND I

Oh, it was such a sunny day,
And fine and warm the weather,
That time the little boy and I
Walked through the fields together.
He held mine with his chubby hand,
So glad for me to hold him,
And how he seemed to understand
The many things I told him.

And there were birds out in the grass,
And there was bug and cricket,
And many a flower we would pass
And stop sometimes and pick it.
And clouds up in the summer sky
Went sailing, sailing, sailing,
And we were happy, he and I,
With gladness never failing.

And down beneath a leafy tree
We lay and looked up yonder,
And saw a very busy bee
With such a will to wander
Among the flowers and sip and sip
With humming song and cheery,
And we heard the brook waters drip
And never, never weary.

And we saw a gray rabbit curled
Beneath a bush and cover
And all the troubles in the world
Were quite forgot and over.
And then a bird that chirped and hopped
Grew saucier and bolder,
And soon a curly head was dropped
In sleep upon my shoulder.

Oh, it was such a sunny day,
And Oh, the summer splendor
And Oh, my heart, that in some way
Became so warm and tender.
The grass, the trees, the velvet sod,
The breeze and balmy weather,
I think we were both close to God
When we walked out together.

UNUSUAL PLAN IS PRESENTED BY SMALLEY

Something unusual is being offered home-seekers by John N. Smalley, who owns foothill property in the San Rafael hills. He is giving to the prospective buyer an opportunity to purchase unimproved lots. The 20 or 30 percent leap in values which comes as a result of improvements, and which usually goes to the land promoter who instigates the improvements, will go to the individual purchaser in this case, he says. Many home-seekers are looking for just such a proposition, it is believed.

The new proprietors are located at the end of the scenic Hill drive, which will eventually skirt the foothills from Glendale to Pasadena but which now stops at the Smalley tract.

The drive and Mr. Smalley's land give an exceptionally fine view of Glendale and the valley.

NEW BUILDING FOR MAX GREEN TO BE BUILT

It will cost, including fixtures, $10,000. The addition will contain two stores and is to be completed by November 15. One of these has been leased by the Pacific Coast Tire Company of Los Angeles.

REAL ESTATE CONTRACTS IS THRIFT WAY

Mike Gannon of California Finance and Housing Co. Gives Advice

"The home," said Mr. Mike Gannon, district representative of the California Finance and Housing company yesterday, is a base for fortune building. Its security as an investment cannot be questioned and it has a strong hold on civilization. Men are concentrating on this, the greatest single agency in promoting good citizenship than any other thing.

"The financing is the most worrysome thing, and many people without security abandon the idea of ever having a home because they fear that they never will have the money, yet these self same people save money each month. All rational ones do. Then I ask you, why don't they capitalize this thrift?

"The effort to save money comes easier and easier after the start has been made, and the desire to keep it up grows constantly. If the money so saved were used in the purchase of real estate loan contracts, they would in a short time have sufficient funds to start the building of a home.

"In recent years," continued Mr. Gannon, "very many large financial corporations have helped men to become home owners and have made it easy for the responsible citizen, who shows a willingness to save a stipulated sum each month, toward the final ownership of his home. My final advice to the future men of this type, is be sure the company with whom you deal is reliable; then start immediately toward your goal, whether you are a small investor or large. For such an investment as I have described, real estate loan contracts is the safest and surest way to the ultimate object of all good citizens.

813% INCREASE IN REFINING CAPACITY

The oil refining capacity of the United States has increased 813 per cent in sixteen years, according to the American Petroleum Institute. The increase has been brought about by the demand created by the internal combustion engine.

In 1906, the refiners of the United States, running to capacity, could handle about 219,000 barrels of crude petroleum a day. The principal demand was for kerosene. Gasoline was a by-product and only about 8,000,000 barrels of it were produced during the entire year.

On January 1 of this year, the refinery capacity was over 2,000,000 barrels a day. The principal demand is for gasoline which, according to the latest official figures was produced during July at the rate of about 160,000,000 barrels a year.

The present refineries in Mexico alone have a capacity nearly as great as the refineries in this country had sixteen years ago.

FLUSH RADIATOR OFTEN.

It is essential that the engine be kept properly cooled during the hot summer months, holds Leon T. Shettler, Rickenbacker distributor, who says that the water system be flushed out at proper intervals, and filled with clean water. To make the operation efficient, the fan belt should be adjusted. Mr. Shettler also advises that the spark be kept advanced, which will aid in keeping the engine cool.

HERE IS KEY TO REVENUE TAX LAWS

In an effort to correct a general misunderstanding that exists among automobile men regarding the application of the tax imposed by the revenue acts of 1918 and 1921 to automobile parts used in connection with repair work, Collector of Internal Revenue Rex Boodcell yesterday announced that he had formulated the following rules for the convenience of those who are affected by the tax:

With respect to work other than top and body work:

A person who manufactures for sale separately parts and accessories and is also engaged in the repair business, shall be held to be a manufacturer with respect to all such parts or accessories made and sold by him, whether used in repair work or not.

A person who does not manufacture any parts or accessories for sale separately, but is engaged in doing a strictly repair business and makes only occasionally a part needed for an immediate repair job performed by him, is not a manufacturer, and is not required to pay any tax with respect to such parts or accessories.

With respect to top and body work:

A person engaged in top and body work who makes complete new tops, or complete bodies with or without tops, is held to be a manufacturer of such articles and the sale thereof subject to tax, even though it may be in connection with an immediate repair job.

A person who makes from raw material such articles as side curtains, detachable slip covers, detachable floor covering, etc., is held to be a manufacturer and subject to tax with respect to the sale of such articles, even though sold in connection with a repair job.

No tax shall be levied with respect to top desks and side quarters, back curtains, upholstery work, permanently attached floor coverings, or body and top repair work not involving the sale of articles such as side curtains, detachable floor coverings, etc.

It will be noted that under the above rules a complete new top or a complete new body is subject to tax, and that with respect to other articles, such as upholstering, fenders, doors, ect., built for an immediate repair job, slip and seat coverings, radiator and hood covers, etc., only such of these articles as may be readily attached by the average garage man or individual user are subject to tax. For example, side curtains, radiator covers, detachable slip covers, and carpeting are taxable, while upholstering work and permanently attached seat and floor coverings are not taxable. Neither are new doors or fenders made up from raw materials for immediate repair jobs subject to tax.

No tax attaches with respect to top covering work unless it involves the building of a complete new top or one or more side curtains. Side curtains and complete new tops are subject to tax, even though made up from raw materials for immediate repairs. Back curtains, heretofore held flexible, are exempt from tax under this ruling, unless they are made up and kept in stock for sale seperately, or unless installed as a part of a complete new top.

DON'T LOAN CAR TO NEW-MADE 'FRIEND'

Be careful of your alleged friends who want to borrow your auto these days, warns the Automobile Club of Southern California.

There is an epidemic of embezzlement cases throughout the the southern and central counties of California, and according to the testimony of scores of motorists, the embezzling is being done by persons who claim to be friends of the car owner.

Don't loan your car to any person who wishes to borrow it without the proper references or unless you know that the person is reliable—this warning is made emphatic today by the Auto club following the report of hundreds of cars embezzled throughout Southern California by the so-called friends of motorists.

In the case of embezzlement, which is very different from ordinary "theft," the ordinary forms of fire and theft insurance do not protect the car owner, and he is out of luck if his car is embezzled, according to a statement from the club insurance department.

The question of embezzlement concerns the original intention of the person "borrowing" the car. If he does not intend to steal it at the time, but just wants to use it for a while and then later decides to make away with it, that is embezzlement. However, if he takes it with intent to steal, then it is stealing and comes under that form of protection in insurance circles.

Southern California is well situated to further the schemes of embezzlers because of its many avenues of escape, it is pointed out, and therefore local motorists must be more than ordinarily careful in "loaning" their cars.

CAUSES WOBBLY WHEELS

C. R. ANDERS
Of the Firm of Anders & Halfhill

The mere mention of renewed cars naturally makes a fellow think of the firm of Anders & Halfhill, who have been operating at 240 South Brand boulevard for the past several months, and who have the distinction of being the first firm to conduct an open air automobile market in Glendale.

This firm handles used and renewed cars of all kinds and they sell them at all prices. The other day they sold an automobile for $35, the next day one went at $20, while the day following one of the better makes of cars brought $900. By this it may be seen that the range of price of the cars sold by these boys is very large. The buyer can get anything he wants in the way of a used car at this market.

Since starting in business here this firm has specialized in right prices. It is applying the Golden Rule to its business — something that is not always seen in these speedy days. They know how to buy right—which is one reason they have no trouble in turning their cars.

Not all the cars sold by this firm are overhauled before they leave the lot. Some machines do not need overhauling and to put a great deal of labor on them would be a waste of money. On the other hand, some cars that come to this firm need a little fixing up, and where the machine warrants it these boys see that it is put in first class shape. Some cars are not worth putting a great deal of money in them in the way of repairs. These are sold "as is," without any guarantee whatsoever. In cases of this kind as well as in connection with every other machine, the buyer is told just what he is getting. Nothing with regard to the machine is hidden.

"The fact that we have never had a machine returned to us should be sufficient proof of our way of doing business," said Mr. Halfhill this morning.

25 NEW CADILLAC CARS USED IN PARADE

The automobile played a prominent part in the parade of 40,000 Masons in Detroit prior to the laying of the corner-stone of the $5,000,000 Masonic temple, recently.

The day selected was the 129th anniversary of the laying of the cornerstone of the National capitol, and the Masonic apron and trowel used by George Washington on that occasion, brought to Detroit by members of the Alexandria-Washington lodge, figured in the ceremonies that will be an outstanding incident of national Masonic history.

The new temple, universally acclaimed as the most costly and architecturally the most impressive of all the shrines of Masonry, crowns many years of effort of local members of the fraternity, and the rites were attended by notables from many cities.

The parade from the old Masonic temple to the site of the new building, with members of the various lodges following their lodge banners and marching in close formation, 12, 16 and 20 abreast, took 80 minutes to pass a given point.

Cadillacs had been selected as the official cars and were used exclusively in the parade. A fleet of 25 of them, of the 7-passenger touring model, fresh from the factory, carried guests of honor and Masonic notables at the head of the columns marching on foot.

The leading car carried Secretary of the Navy Edwin Denby, Governor of Michigan Alex J. Groesbeck, Congressman George P. Codd, and president of the Detroit Masonic temple association, Frederick A. Cooke. It was followed by a phalanx of eight rows of Cadillacs traveling three abreast and carrying other guests of honor, grand lodge officials, Grand Commander William H. Wetherbee of the Knights Templar of Michigan and his staff, Grand Commander Leonidas P. Newby, of the Knights Templar of the United States, and officers of the grand chapter.

REMOVE CARBON

Have the carbon removed immediately upon noticing a carbon knock. The operation is not expensive, and the engine bearings will be relieved of much unnecessary abuse.

AUTUMN TOURING SEASON NOW AT HEIGHT

Jack-o'lantern time is here, and the autumn touring season is coming on with a rush.

Motorists visiting here, and local car owners as well, who claim that the southern and central portions of California have no "fall" should go out into the country hereabouts and see the brilliant leaves of the wintering trees, says the Automobile club of Southern California.

Although this part of the state can't boast of "frost upon the pumpkin," still the pumpkin's on the vine, as James Whitcomb Riley said, and some of the most gorgeous tours in the world are ready for inspection in the southern counties.

Practically every county has its own autumn tours. From San Luis Obispo on the north to Imperial and San Diego counties on the south, and Riverside and San Bernardino counties on the east, there are canyons now which fairly glow with ripening autumn foliage. Red, browns and brilliant yellows mark the fall of the sycamore and poplar leaves.

Take your car out today, Mr. Motorist, advises the Auto club, and learn something about your own part of the state. Tell your eastern friends that Southern California offers every type of scenery in the world, and prove it to them. Show them the little canyons where it is possible to picnic under the autumn leaves, even in October and November.

Inter-county touring in the southern sections of California should reach its height at this time, it is pointed out. Learn what your neighboring county has to offer. Find out what the mountains of San Diego are showing this year in the line of fall "clothing." Learn what Ventura county has, what Mono and Inyo counties are putting forth, what the San Bernardino and Los Angeles mountains have. Then tell the easterners.

CARE MEANS LONG LIFE TO THE AUTO

"The life of an automobile depends considerably upon the care which it receives," maintains Bill Germany, manager, J. G. Cooley Motors Company, 312 South Brand boulevard, local Durant dealer in four and six cylinder models. "Most of the motor car trouble can be traced to putting off adjustments that can be regularly attended to. Carelessness of the owner has been the cause in many cases, hence he is to blame for the short service of his car.

"Proper care of the car should begin with the purchase. Right then the owner should start his motoring career with the fixed idea that his automobile is a piece of machinery, subject to wear and requiring just as much attention as you would bestow on a dynamo, a grandfather's clock or a radio outfit.

"Keeping this in mind will offset the common impression that many motorists possess. Not a few drivers have sentimental thoughts concerning their cars, believing that they will always stand up without proper attention. Such men are usually disillusioned just when the services of their car means most to them.

"Regular attention and care prolongs the service of the car to a vastly greater extent than periodical complete overhaulings. Get the habit of inspecting your car before making a trip, just the same as the farsighted horseman will rub his hand over his animal before mounting.

"A glance under the hood with the motor running, attention to any sound not in tune, a measurement of gas, water and oil, a test of the wires and tires will be well worth the slight delay in starting. Such an inspection of vital parts will offset the unnecessary annoyances and greater delay later on the trip.

"The motorist should study the complete instruction book as supplied him by the manufacturer in order that he will know the proper care of all the parts of his car. As he becomes familiar with as many parts as possible, he will fully realize that service rests primarily upon the attention the car receives.

"Neglect your car, and your car will neglect you. Treat it properly and regularly and it will treat you in a like manner."

JEWETT CARS HIT THE MARK

"Notwithstanding the lateness of the summer touring season the automobile buyers are placing their orders for Jewett cars," said the manager of the Sunset Motor company, 118 East Colorado street, this morning. "It is really surprising the number of sales that are being made through the Glendale agency. The Jewett seems to be filling a niche that has long been vacant. We're satisfied with the way everything is going."

KEROSENE CUTS GREASE

The gum and grease that accumulates on the rear axle may be easily removed with a cloth wet with kerosene. A stiff brush will reach the grooves and corners. The cleaning will be easier if the kerosene is warmed.

E. W. KINGSLEY,
Manager Day and Night Garage

Probably no firm in Glendale has done so much toward raising the standard of garage work in Glendale during the past few months as has the Day and Night garage, 217 East Broadway, of which E. W. Kingsley is proprietor and general manager. From its first day here it claims to have turned out nothing but first class work. In connection with every job the interest of the motorist is first considered. He must first be satisfied, after which it is plenty of time to look after the payment for work.

"We do genuine automobile repair work," said Mr. Kingsley, this morning. "By this I mean we really repair the broken or worn parts of the cars that are brought into our establishments, and when a job leaves our place it is as nearly perfect as it is possible for us to make it. We believe the old saying that the "satisfied customer is the best advertisement," and it is on this belief that we have built up a very substantial business."

The Day and Night garage is one of the official headlight testing stations in Glendale. Since September 1 it has tested the headlights of more than 400 automobiles. The management is emphasizing very strongly at this time the necessity of each motorist having the lights of his car adjusted at once as the local police will next Monday, begin the rigid enforcement of the state motor vehicle headlight law. It is not absolutely necessary that the lights be adjusted, but in case of trouble the motorist who has a headlight certificate will possess an argument in his favor.

Expert welding and brazing is done by this firm, as is battery and ignition work of all kinds. It also repairs radiators, fenders and bodies—in fact, it is an all round garage.

SOME INTERESTING FACTS ABOUT OIL

About 123,000 tank cars are used in the transportation of oil in this country. Of these about 8,000 are railroad property, the remainder being owned by those engaged in the oil industry.

Only sixteen years ago kerosene was the petroleum product in most demand and gasoline, which is now the chief commercial product of crude oil was difficult to dispose of.

The first oil well in the United States was drilled in 1859 and yielded about 25 barrels a day. The production of the country during August of this year was at the rate of 1,493,387 barrels a day.

The production of crude petroleum in the United States in 1906 was 126,493,936 barrels. The country's oil refineries of today could handle that quantity in about 60 days.

MANY IN AUTO FACTORY

There are 181,00 men and women employed in the automobile factories in Detroit, Mich. This number nearly equals the top mark of 1920.

REPEAL OF U. S. AUTO TAX URGED

Reaffirming the continued opposition of the automotive industry to the "discriminatory war excise taxes," C. C. Hanch, chairman of the taxation committee of the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce, has addressed a letter to each nominee for congress asking him whether he favors repeal of this legislation.

"Apparently congress believed it of greater importance to relieve musical instruments, sporting goods, chewing gum, thermos bottles, fur articles, picture frames, perfumes, toilet waters and hair dyes than individual transportation," says the letter. "In this belief we do not concur and we feel that the only equitable thing to the interests of fair play and the welfare of all industry as a whole is to repeal all discriminatory war excise taxes."

The letter is accompanied by a memorandum which shows in graphic form the repeals and reductions made in the tax law of 1921 as against the law of 1918.

Fuller, president of the White Auto company. The road will be 40 feet wide, constructed of 10-inch reinforced concrete, and capable of carrying a traffic of 20,000 vehicles every 24-hour day.

REMOVE FEDERAL TAX ON LEAF SPRINGS

Automobile men who have been paying federal taxes on leaf springs are entitled to a refund of all amounts they have paid under a ruling of the Internal Revenue department which was received yesterday by Collector Rex Goodcell.

Three claims for refund amounting to $6000 were filed yesterday by Los Angeles automobile houses. Claims may be filed for all taxes paid since February, 1919.

The ruling defines an automobile part subject to tax as any article which, by reason of some peculiar characteristic is not a commercial commodity as would ordinarily be sold for general use and which is primarily adopted only for use as a component part of an automobile or motorcycle.

It holds that there is nothing in the design or construction of the ordinary leaf spring used on automobiles to make it primarily adopted only for such use and that it may be and is used for other purposes.

In view of these facts the revenue department now takes the position that the ordinary leaf spring, as distinguished from highly specialized leaf spring, such as auxiliary shock-absorbing devices using the leaf spring principle, are not subject to tax under section 900 of the Revenue Acts of 1918 and 1921.

'BUSINESS GOOD' SAYS JESSE SMITH

They are "rolling our way," says Jesse Smith, 115-55 West Colorado, this morning, meaning that deliveries as well as orders are coming in fast. He adds that conditions have rarely been so favorable for the purchaser seeking early delivery, but suggests that if orders continue at the present rate the fortunate buyer will be the one who places his order just a few minutes earlier than his neighbor. "Every authorized Ford dealer is potentially a miniature Ford Motor Company," says Mr. Smith, "and as such our obligation to the public, taking form in absolute integrity, equitable treatment and sincere service, constitutes capital no less than actual cash."

To meet the requirements, the Ford Motor Company has initiated a scope of production that is amazing in extent and unparalleled in automobile history. Not only will this relieve the depression of delivery experienced during the sixty days past, but will amply provide for an incoming flood of orders that would swamp an organization less fitted to accomplish huge undertakings in a huge manner.

KEEP ENGINE DRY.

Water should never be splashed on the engine when washing the car. Should water seep into the carburetor or the magneto it will mean considerable difficulty and delay before the engine will run properly.

WESTERN GIANTS ARE BUILT FOR ENDURANCE

There has been a good deal of controversy of late in regard to the cutting of quality of some of the old standard lines of tires in order to bring about a lower first cost to motorists.

For many years tire concerns have endeavored to manufacture tires which will give a maximum mileage at a minimum cost. Now there seems to be a tendency on the part of many tire manufacturers to build tires which will give only fair mileage, but whose selling price is based on the proportionate mileage delivered.

Several months ago the Western Auto Supply Company put on the market the Western Giant Cord, a tire manufactured according to their designs and specifications. Only the very finest of materials have been put into this tire. The men manufacturing this tire are among the foremost tire builders in America. Only the highest type tire makers are employed in the factory. Very careful consideration was given the contour of the tire and particular attention paid to its non-skid qualities, but the ultimate object was to build into Western Giants the very maximum of mileage and durability.

The Western Auto Supply Company's stores are supplied direct from the factory, thus saving the ultimate consumer several middleman profits paid if the tire was distributed through regular channels. That is the reason this high-grade tire can be sold at regular standard tire prices.

"Never will the quality of the Western Giant Cord be reduced," says Mr. George Pepperdine, president of the Western Auto Supply Company. "This tire was made to our special order at the demand of motorists who desired a tire which would deliver tremendous mileage. The Western Giant Cord has satisfied this demand by delivering such exceptional mileage that the guaranteed 12,000 miles is usually its very minimum obtained.

"For the many motorists who, for one reason or another, prefer fabric tires, we carry the Nebraska and Pharis, which deliver exceptionally good mileage and are considerably less expensive than cord tires."

HOME MECHANIC ENJOYS CAR MOST

"The man who really gets the most pleasure out of his automobile is the chap who, after tinkering with it, making his own repairs and installing his own accessories, can really say that the old boat has a distinct personality. He is the fellow you see every day who brags about the mileage he gets to the gallon; the absence of vibration; the pickup and pep his boat has, and other various and sundry things that a man can talk about if he really knows his car.

"And it is much easier to know the innermost secrets of an automobile's internal workings than it was in the past. Complete encyclopedias on autos and their ailments are on sale at nearly every good accessory store and at many book stores. The ones in the libraries seem to have been perused with care by dozens of prospective backyard mechanics, and occasionally you'll see some chap parked along the side of the road looking over the old 'Dyke' to find out why his motor decided not to mote.

"Of course it would be out of the question for a motorist to try and carry all the different tools that are now on the market and recommended as cures for certain motoring problems. There are special socket wrenches, combination wrenches, trouble lamps, ratchet wrenches for use on the transmission; tire tools and piston ring compressors. Then you can take your pick of valve grinding outfits, jacks of both gear and ratchet types, pliers of a dozen or more types and kinds, wheel pullers and many other tools too numerous to mention.

"The motorist could not, even if he wished, find room for all the tools he could use," said C. H. Roudebush, sales manager for the Western Auto Supply company.

"A lot of the tools now made for the man who repairs his own car—and his number is legion nowadays—were made primarily for garage use. There are many different assortments of tools now put on the market in the form of toolkits that give about as fine an assortment of tools for roadside repairs as any motorist could want. One of the most popular sets contains thirty tools as well as repair materials such as cotter pins, copper wire, etc. The next time you hear a man bragging about his car," concluded Roudebush, "just ask him who does his repairing. Two to one he'll say that he's tired of paying out money to garages and mechanics and is doing it himself."

THREE CLEVELAND CARS FIND HOMES

Three cars—two Cleveland Chesterfields and one Cleveland touring—were delivered by the local Cleveland and Chandler agency, 105 East Colorado street, this week. One Chesterfield was delivered to W. G. Belding, 212 North Jackson street. This car had disc wheels and was "class" itself. Another Chesterfield was delivered to Ernest C. LaMont, 411 East Lomita avenue, while Granville Jones of 1135 South Pacific avenue is now driving a new Cleveland touring.

A recent accomplishment of a Cleveland car in a cross country trip is worth mentioning. Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Lord and son drove from Tulsa, Okla., in a Cleveland coupe in 98 hours running time. Not a penny was spent except for gas and oil, and for the trip the car averaged 18.3 miles per gallon of gasoline.

"AEROMOBILE" IS NEW.

The Soviet auto laboratory in Russia has invented a new type of motor vehicle, called the "aeromobile." Its engine differs from a motor engine in having no gear box or differential gear, and it is claimed that this not only saves a great deal in weight, but makes the engine much easier to control.

AUTO EQUIPMENT TAX COMES HIGH

Manufacturers of tires and automobile accessories paid excise taxes amounting to $87,808.57 for September according to a report made yesterday by Collector Rex Goodcell. The tax represents $1,756,171.40 in sales.

For the fiscal year ending June 30, 1922, the manufacturers tax on tire and automobile accessories was $810,160 indicating sales of $16,203,200. If the rate of increase shown by the September collections is maintained the sales for the new fiscal year will total $21,174,040, an increase over last year of approximately $5,000,000.

That members of social, athletic and sporting clubs paid $217,371.10 in dues and initiations during September is indicated by tax receipts of $21,737.10 from this source.

From non-alcoholic beverages the collections were $18,521.01, indicating approximate sales by manufacturers of $700,000.

Evidently $420,000 worth of candy was sold by manufacturers as taxes paid were $12,375.77.

1923 CHEVROLET TO BE SHOWN WEDNESDAY

The 1923 Superior Chevrolets will be on display at the Glendale Chevrolet agency, corner Colorado and Orange, and the branch at 1321 South San Fernando road, next Wednesday morning. Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Smith left for Oakland last night, from which place they will drive the two cars. They expect to arrive in Glendale Tuesday night so that the cars may be on display Wednesday morning.

VAST QUANTITY OF AUTO COPPER.

Approximately 100,000,000 pounds of copper will be utilized this year in the manufacture of automobiles in this country, according to a survey just completed by the Copper and Brass Research Association. This is an increase of 30,000,000 pounds over 1921 and about 750,000 pounds more than 1920, in which latter year the automobile industry consumed 7.63 per cent of the total copper production.

The best method of locating leaks in an inner tube, when there is no water handy, is to hold the tube close to the dust of the road, compressing the air in the other part. Tire chalk or even cigar ashes have been used for the purpose.

HENRY M. KUHN OF CIZEK ELECTRIC RETURNS

Henry M. Kuhn of the Cizek Auto Electric company, corner Colorado and Brand, returned Wednesday night from a trip of three weeks in the east, the trip being made for both business and pleasure. During the trip two weeks were spent in traveling in which time 3200 miles were covered. The prominent cities included Cleveland, Ohio, where the Willard Battery Manufacturing company is located; Detroit, the former home of Mr. Kuhn, Grand Rapids, St. Louis and Kansas City. He tells all kinds of stories of missing the trail at night, stony, bumpy roads, and many other features that tend to make any trip enjoyable.

Mr. Kuhn says that a great portion of the National Old Trail transcontinental route, which road he covered, is being improved at this time and for that reason there are numerous detours. A trip through the Willard factory proved a revelation to Mr. Kuhn, and many battery points that he did not possess were gleamed. He states that the Willard factory is at this time working at 100 per cent capacity.

THIS PLAN WILL STOP SPEEDING

A new way of punishing auto speeders has been devised by C. J. Chenu of the state motor vehicle department:

"To put a man in jail for a day or a week is not to punish him so much as it is to punish his wife and children," said Chenu. "The innocent suffer by such action more than the guilty one. I would take the car away and not permit the offender to drive, ride in a car or truck or motorcycle, either his own, afriend's or a public conveyance.

"How many men would not be punished severely by being forced to take street cars, trains and walk, who otherwise would use a car? It would be bitter punishment, and would make him think in the future. Besides he would catch all kinds of rebuke from his family, especially if he was the only driver, and they could not go out because of his crime. I'll bet in the future he would be mighty careful."

In cases where intoxication was involved Chenu favors the stiff sentence that is imposed, but he thinks in first offenses, or in the ordinary cases, his suggestion will do more than a short jail sentence.

Another thing, Chenu says the courts should not permit violators to jump their bail, but should bring them into court upon bench warrant.

SUTTER BASIN ROAD OPEN.

The new paved section of the Sutter County highway is now completed almost to this point and traffic has been opened over it.

In the meantime, the two bridges across the dredges cuts in the Sutter By-Pass make it possible to travel directly from Knights Landing to Yuba City through Maddock. Automobiles may now make this trip.

C. C. FANGMAN

Proprietor Cut Rate Tire Store

Success in an extreme measure has been the reward of the efforts expended by C. C. Fangman, proprietor of the Cut Rate Tire Store, 212 West Broadway. This success has come to an extent entirely undreamed of. Upon opening his place of business here Mr. Fangman naturally expected to get his share of the tire business of the motorists of Glendale, but he did not anticipate the patronage that has been afforded his place of business.

"Absolute truthfulness in regard to every sale made has been one of the things that has contributed to my success," said Mr. Fangman this morning. "If I cannot dispose of my goods without misrepresentation they will remain on my shelves forever. But the lines of tires and tubes that I carry are of such high quality that it is only neccessary for me to tell the truth about my goods.

"The prices at which I sell the tires I handle are also a great drawing feature. Considering the guarantees I give with my tires the prices charged at our store are far less than at any tire establishment in this city, and they probably are not surpassed anywhere in Southern California. We stand back of our tires to the limit."

Before starting in the tire business in Glendale Mr. Fangman spent several months in the real estate business here. In his former line he made a real success, but he saw in the Cut Rate tire store a chance to start in business for himself and to grow with the city. He is booster from the word "go". The firm specializes on Virginia and Economic make tires, although other brands are carried.

REMOVE ANNOYING SQUEAKS; HERE'S HOW

Regardless of its cost, squeaks will make their appearance in the body of the motor car. If they are allowed to continue they become annoying in the extreme, and the way to avoid them is by constant vigilance and care.

No body is perfectly rigid. The body must weave with the motion of the frame as the car passes over car tracks and other obstructions. This weaving movement loosens the supports and means of holding the body tight, so that noises rapidly become audible. For instance, use loosens the hinges and wears down the rubber buffers on the doors. Every time the door is slammed the hinges are loosened a little and noises begin to make themselves heard.

By the end of any motoring season it is practically certain that the little rubber buffers will need replacement. In many cases the screws that hold the hinge will have worn loose, so that they do not grip the wood. The way to cure this is to drive a little wooden dowel into the original hole and then drive home the screw again, when it will hold tighter than ever.

Window panes on the closed body are another source of noise. After continued use they rattle badly. Little felt pads are provided to hold the glass firmly, but at time this felt pads down so that it does not hold the pane tightly. The pads should be renewed when noises of this kind are noticed.

Door locks are often the seat of minor noises, caused by lost motion in the inside lever. A small felt pad at the end of the slot nearest the lever will cure this trouble.

Creaking of the body joints and rumbling of the body sills on the frame rails is the result of loosened body bolts. After these have been tightened, if the noise still continues, a felt pad inserted between the body and the frame will usually eliminate the trouble.

Friction between the engine hood and dash flange often causes an annoying squeak. A lacing is installed to prevent this, but if the lacing is worn the noise begins. A new lace of rawhide is best, though fabric will do. At this time this is done the hood latches should receive an application of oil.

Another location to be suspected when obscure noises and squeaks arise is the joints of fenders and body. When these dry metal parts begin rubbing against each other a most annoying squeak results. Spray these joints with a little oil and the offending noises will disappear.

Sometimes the rear fender develops a habit of rubbing against the side of the body in a most objectionable way. Here again a splight spray of oil will cure the trouble. For spraying the oil the device used by garages for spraying kerosene is a great help. The oil is sprayed on and then carefully wiped off the outside.

NECESSITIES.

Go over your supply of spare parts and repair kit, and see that all items are supplied. Such small parts as tube patches, repair cement, valve plungers and caps are soon used up, and these are not there when wanted.

INSULATE YOUR WIRES.

Electric wires should be inclosed in rubber tubes at the points where they come in touch with the iron frames.

LAWSON LOSES HIS $6,000,000 ESTATE

Dining room at Dreamwold.

Thomas W Lawson

Ever since Thomas W. Lawson wrote "Frenzied Finance" he has been a doomed man; for Wall Street vowed to "get" him. It did, and now his $6,000,000 Dreamwold estate, near Boston, finest country estate in America, is to be sold on October 12. Lawson is said to be practically broke, though he purchased a $500,000 annuity several years ago, when at the height of his wealth, so he can struggle along in a cheaper home.

MAXWELLS STAND UP UNDER GRIND

"Reports from car owners who have driven Maxwell cars across the continent indicate that the new Maxwell car is standing up and giving better service than was ever anticipated by even the designers of this new car," says Lyman P. Clark of the Glendale Motor Car Company, Maxwell dealers, 124 W. Colorado street.

These owners invariably report that the new Maxwell is unusually repair proof and many of these cars have not even had a puncture to give them any worry.

"The tremendous inroads it is making in public favor are directly due to its superior performance. That the new Maxwell is standing up and giving most unusual service has been proven to even the most skeptical.

"It is this exceptional performance, combined with its unusual beauty of design and body lines, that has made the new Maxwell car the most talked of, of any motor car on the market today," said Mr. Clark.

FRANCE AND ENGLAND CLASH

PARIS, Oct. 13.—France and Great Britain, who have just smoothed over their differences in Near Eastern policy were at odds again today.

Clash between Sir John Bradbury and M. Barthou was freely predicted in the press and by officialdom when the reparations commission went into session today.

M. Barthou, the French representative, is reported to have received instructions from his government to oppose the plan of the British for dealing with German war debts.

TO STOP SQUEAKS.

Before washing the car, a mixture of kerosene and lubricating oil should be forced between the body crevices with a squirt gun, or allowed to seep in from the application of a brush. This will overcome body squeaks provided proper atention is given to the tightening of all body bolts.

POLLOCK USED CAR SALE STARTS TODAY

Another of these J. C. Pollock company used car sales went into effect at 8 o'clock this morning, at the salesrooms of the company, 208-210 West Broadway. The sale will continue all day today and will extend into next week, possibly continuing through the entire week.

At this sale the same quality of used cars are being offered as are always shown by the J. C. Pollock company. Every car that will be sold has been put in good shape and is ready to go right out on the road.

The cars at this sale will be so priced that they will go in a hurry. The company really wants to sell these machines and every car will be so marked down so that it will not be in the shop at the close of the sale.

"The wise ones will come around and look our stock over," said Mr. Pollock yesterday. "Those who have attended our sales in the past will not have to be told twice to come back if he is in the market for a used car.

"It must not be forgotten, also, that we are still selling Oldsmobiles—and they are going fast, too."

KEEP GAS LINE CLEAN

Remove the strainer in the gasoline line at least once a month, and clean out all foreign matter that has lodged there. The strainer is found where the feed pipe enters the vacuum tank, and sometimes another one where the gasoline enters the carburetor.

POSTAL TRUCK SPEED

Speedometers are to be installed on all postoffice motor trucks in the United States. Mail truck chauffeurs will then be able to keep within the speed law, and also prevent disputes with annoying "cops" when wrongfully charged with speeding.

PROSPERITY, NOT ORATORY, TO BE BALLOT NOTE

Republicans Sure Except for Amount of Total Vote

By LAWRENCE MARTIN

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13.—The facts of returning prosperity and not the empty oratory argument of the campaigner will win the congressional elections this year, John T. Adams, chairman of the republican national committee, declared today in sizing up for the United Press the political situation from a G. O. P. standpoint.

In fact, Adams said, the election already has been won because of returning prosperity.

"The outcome," said Adams, "is not in doubt. The only question remaining is the size of the republican majority in the senate and the house. From all indications there will be the majorities of normal republican years."

Reminded that everybody expected some one to say something like that, and that there was nothing new or startling in such a pre-election prediction, Adams replied that this is not a campaign marked by startling political developments. It is a campaign of reason and not of emotion, he said, and the people refuse to be swayed by catch phrases.

Asked to outline the basis for his great confidence, Adams said:

"Business conditions are getting better every day. They have been steadily improving for months. These conditions reflect what is taking place in industrial centers and in agricultural sections. Industries are increasing their output, many of them working at the limit of capacity. Labor is in great demand at good wages.

"Agriculture is in far better shape than it was a year ago. The credit situation throughout the agricultural districts is good. Production costs are lower and prices for farm products higher.

"It therefore takes no argument or campaign oratory to convince wage-earners that times are better than they were when the republican administration came into power."

Democratic opposition, Adams said, is once more based upon a catch phrase—the "do nothing congress"—which he declared "is as misleading as 'he kept us out of war.'"

The chairman was asked his opinion of the reason for the widespread public political apathy. He smiled as though to say, "That's easy," and replied:

"This is not a demonstrative campaign, because the people have made up their minds that their judgment was good when they placed their confidence in Harding's administration. Now they want to see that administration's work carried on and completed."

STOLEN FORD CAR FOUND BY POLICE

Night Search Reveals Smashed Car at Rear of School

In less than nine hours from the time the theft was reported Officers Olchvary and Gates found the Ford roadster of F. Lang which disappeared from the front of a Burbank garage Wednesday night.

After searching Burbank and vicinity during a large part of the night the officers discovered the car at the back of the old high school where the thieves had left it after driving over the athletic field, down the steps leading from the field, and again the pillars of the building.

The windshield and radiator of the car were badly smashed and a tire missing.

CARRY EXTRA OIL CAN

The prudent motorist will always carry an extra oil can on his trip, empty and clean, ready to be filled with whatever is necessary, gasoline for priming the cylinders or cleaning spark plugs, neatsfoot oil for the clutch, kerosene to clean dirt out of the corners or oil in case the other can is lost, is the advice which is given by W. F. Seel, of the Lexington Los-Angeles Company, distributors of the Minute Man Six.

Never drive on a retarded spark.

AUTO CLUB OPENS NEW OUTING BUREAU

Motorists who are strenuously addicted to hunting, fishing and camping will find all they want to know about these sports in a new department to be opened this week by the Auto club of Southern California and central counties.

Ceph B. Salisbury, who is California's greatest authority on hunting and fishing, and a brother of Capt. Edward A. Salisbury, the famous explorer and big game hunter, is now affiliated with the Automobile club in the development of the Camping Department.

This is the first time in history that a motoring organization has opened and maintained a special department exclusively for the use of motorists who wish to know just where to find game and fish of all kinds, and who wish to learn the location of special camping sites.

Mr. Salisbury was for several years connected with the Federal Government in trout and salmon research work. During that time he explored the entire Pacific coast in quest of the best trout streams and lakes, hunting localities and camp spots. He covered the uplands looking for quail, dove and deer.

Officials of the Auto club are issuing this statement on his biography to give motorists an idea of the quality of expert opinion they will have at their service.

Capt. Salisgury, brother of the Auto club expert, is now in India, and if there are any intrepid motorists in Southern California who have a hankering for a little really big game hunting, they can also secure information along this line, as "Ceph" is in close touch with the Salisbury expedition.

OIL VS. WET WEATHER.

When taking the car out on wet roads, see that all exposed connections are thoroughly lubricated. The splash of the water on these parts will cause rattling and undue wear and rust.

NOISE MEANS TROUBLE.

Noise in the starter is a sure sign of trouble. It may be induced by broken or badly worn teeth, a bent armature shaft, a loose armature bearing or badly meshed teeth.

CRISIS AVERTED

At this writing details concerning the armistice between Turkey and the allied powers are meager. It is cheering, however, to know that the danger of immediate war has been averted. In the interval the world may have the opportunity to gather its scattered wits, and learn to deport itself sanely. Concerning a war between England and Turkey alone, there could have been no doubt as to the outcome. England could have beaten back the troops of Kemal with ease. The grave peril was in the manifest fact that a war in any part of Europe would have been likely to spread indefinitely. How many millions of the "oppressed races" are awaiting the opportunity to rise against the whites, is a matter of conjecture. It may be that there are enough so that an outbreak would change the whole aspect of human affairs. In Africa and India are discontented hordes stirred continually by agitators. In central Europe are lingering hatreds awaiting the chance to side with any force that might be able to batter down the structure of civilization. Even Japan is not always regarded as conducting itself in absolute good faith, and is accused of cherishing sinister and secret plans of conquest. China is awakening. Whither its coming impetus may direct it nobody knows. Whatever may be exact conditions, it is clear that war on a scale of magnitude anywhere, might furnish the spark to set the world aflame. Therefore it behooves the nations to avoid war. The suggestion seen in prevailing temper and circumstance is that civilization must learn to act as a unit, or it may cease to act, because of ceasing to be.

PROBLEM FOR COURTS

In Omaha recently the trial of a criminal case had to be adjourned owing to the presence of school girls. The fact was known that proceedings were bound to be salacious. The influence of the testimony could not but be debasing. The giggling girls declined to leave on request. The judge found a way out by putting the matter over to a day and hour when the youngsters would have to be in school. This was far from being a final or satisfactory solution of the problem.

There are legal provisions that cause a trial to be public. Secrecy is not the method of justice, and a real necessity exists for guarding against it. At the same time there are many court hearings from which every impulse of decency would suggest the absence of all not compelled by duty to be there. It is a notorious and disgraceful fact that men and women flock to such hearings, with the shameless avidity of vultures drawn to a carcass. The nastier the case the better are they pleased. They have been rebuked from the bench many times, but they cannot be driven into the street, and so they remain, affording a disgusting and disquieting spectacle.

The Omaha incident does not argue that the people of that city are on a lower plane morally than people elsewhere. It shows merely that youth is imitative, and proves the power of example. No girl trained in a proper environment would have sought the court. No mother with proper regard for her daughter, could fail to have been horrified at so wanton an exhibition of low taste. Conditions are bad when grownups display an innate depravity, but at symptoms of depravity shown by children, the feeling of the beholder becomes absolute dismay.

STATUS OF THE PRESS

The relation of the newspaper to public affairs is to be discussed at the suggestion of the American society of newspaper editors. The time is far in advance, and yet the subject is deemed so important that arrangements already are being made. The speakers will be men of prominence in their several fields of activity. Doubtless the debate will be illuminating in some direction. Either it will supply the journalist with valuable hints, or it will demonstrate that the man who has achieved success in some other line, would be wise to stick to that line.

There is widely recognized a theory that anybody is competent to run a newspaper save the person who is devoting himself to such end. The willing critic is ready to vote him a failure, and to suggest to him how he might change for the better. Were the recipient of the advice to change tactics, he could be certain of pleasing just one critic.

What a newspaper should be, is in part, expressed by the title. It should give the news, quite separate from opinion. If half the world does not know how the other half lives, it wants ot know. The satisfying of its curiosity is a process of education. "All the news that's fit to print" has become a common slogan. There are papers that never have adopted the principle. They present much that is not fit to print, and the more unfit it is, the more they print. Some are purveyors of scandal, and are little else.

Sometimes a paper is so governed by prejudice that much of its news is biased. One for example, will be bitter in politics. The result is that it misrepresents both sides. On one it heaps fulsome praise, mostly undeserved, and the other it attacks with the weapons of invective and untruth. This feeling, so manifest in the editorial departments, colors the work of correspondents and reporters. It tends to mar or eliminate the usefulness of the publication. The bitterness of another paper may be directed against organized labor. Then in its columns every crime of violence is ascribed to labor, and every strike is viewed as a crime. This method also is destructive of usefulness.

Many men of high achievement in business or diplomacy, regard themselves as immune to any degree of publicity. They think they are a class apart, and that the common run of humanity has no right to show interest in their plans, although such plans may affect the welfare of a nation or the world. Doubtless the view expressed by such men, were they to participate in the discussion, would be as narrow and unfair as that of the most jaundiced scribe. However, the plan is interesting, and it may be fruitful.

The Y. W. C. A. of Pasadena has every reason to be proud, not only of its record as an organization, but of its material success. It is now housed in a beautiful building, and the fact that the architect who designed the structure is a woman is significant.

RAISING MICROBES

By DR. FRANK CRANE

The most dangerous enemy of the human race is the microbe.

The battle between mankind and its microscopic foes goes on for ever. "There is no discharge in that war."

Dr. Frank Crane

Perhaps the greatest triumph of modern science measured by terms of human welfare, is its discovery of the habits of microbes and of the methods for destroying them. The laboratory of the biologist is interesting, such for instance, as that in the Lister Institute, in Chelsea, London, where some 2,000 different kinds of microbes are nurtured daily.

It is the effort of the scientist to "isolate" these germs, that is to distinguish them from other germs and to learn the best methods of dealing with them.

Glancing around the room you see cases of test tubes containing different colored jellies, on some of which can be perceived masses that look like dirt. Among these are the most deadly germs known to man, such as leprosy, cholera, smallpox and typhoid. They are all safely imprisoned, however. They are carefully fed by their captors, so that their forms of activity may be discovered.

Microbes will not feed on anything; they are even more particular about their food than are human beings.

Some of them are quite finicky.

The pneumonia germ, for example, is very fond of a jelly-serum prepared from the blood of a horse. Placed in this a few germs will have eaten so much and thrived so well within twenty-four hours that they multiply by hundreds of thousands and even millions.

You can watch them feed under a microscope and see them growing and breaking in half, and these halves dividing and reproducing themselves in turn.

The tubercular germ is fond of sugar, and glucose forms a large part of the jelly upon which he feeds.

The microbe does not consume his food, however, he simply draws nourishment from it, and to the naked eye it would seem that there is as much food substance left after the microbe has eaten it as before. One of the most common microbe foods is a serum made from beef. It is first in liquid form, but afterward undergoes a process which transforms it into jelly, upon which the microbes feed.

Not only the germs which attack man are studied in this room, but also the microbe mould, which attacks potatoes and other plants; these germs are fed on a serum made from potatoes, while still other germs thrive on white of egg made into a jelly.

Microbes, however, do not thrive so well in captivity as they do in a condition of nature. It is as if they became lazy by having their food prepared and brought to them instead of having to fight for it against hostile blood corpuscles as they must do when they attack the human body.

The greatest triumph of science in the realm of preserving human life and opposing disease is marked in this room, where the tiny enemies of mankind in their prison pens are studied.

Of course, all microbes are not enemies of life. Some of them assist life. But that is another story.

DISCUSSION CLUB

Rosalie H. Schwab:

"Do you approve of the expression 'greatly appreciate'? Heretofore I have avoided it, but do you think the time has arrived when I should fall in line? Do you consider 'Items affecting the combined reports only' a sentence?"

Mr. Nicholson:

"Greatly appreciate" appeared in a query written "The Right Word" by Miss Ruzicka, while the so called "sentence" referred to appeared in one written by H. B. Hoye. "Items affecting the combined reports only" is not a sentence. I recommend appreciate without adding an adverb to intensify the idea. However, it is not unusual in colloquial speech to stress doubly a perfect idea by the voice or by modification though an adverb or adjective. This is found also in the composition of eminent writers; as, "All true appreciation is the result of keen insight and noble passion" (Blackie).

Belle Katz:

"In omitting a verse when reproducing a poem should not this fact be designated?"

Mr. Nicholson:

Yes. This can be done by means of a line of dots.

J. M. Mackay:

"The members of our literary club would like to have your opinion of the relative merits of the following constructions: ' . . . in other words, the first example's purpose is to give expression to the idea work . . ., while that of the second example is to give expression to the idea of day and to describe this day by of work'; . . . in other words, the purpose of the first example is to give expression to the idea work . . ., while that of the second example is to give expression to the idea of day and to describe this day by of work."

Mr. Nicholson:

The second construction is the better.

THE LISTENING POST

By James W. Foley

We put seed into the ground.
Not that we may fill up the ground.
But that we may get something out of it.
An increase of the seed a hundred fold in the way of harvest.

* * *

Except for the resultant harvest.
The farmer plows, harrows, tills, fertilizes and cultivates.
That he may reap the reward of his effort in the crop.

* * *

We do not put religion into a man just to fill up the man.
We do not want to stuff his mind merely with dogma and creed and contention and all that.
We put religion into him in order that we may get something out of him.
So the purpose of religion is not to make of man a store house for theology.
But to make him a warehouse of harvested crop for the good of the world.

* * *

We drive a shaft into the earth, not to make a hole in the earth.
Not to drop something down the shaft for the earth to swallow up.
But to bring up something out of the earth.
Gold or silver or coal or something of use to the world.

* * *

We educate the man not to stuff him with knowledge.
But to make him productive.
Through his activities to transmute his knowledge to value.
To make him, not stuffed, but productive.

* * *

The stuffed prophet is as far from virtue as the stuffed deer is from meat.
The value of philosophy is what it gets out of a man.
Through what it may put into him.
The value of coal lies in the energy we get from it.
Not in the amount of it we are able to stuff into a furnace.

* * *

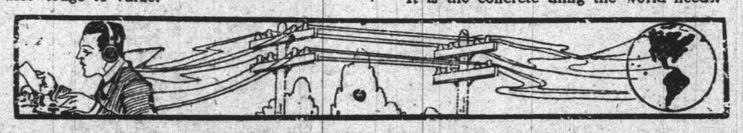
A learned man without usefulness is an error in education or religion or philosophy.
Better less learning and more spirit.
Less knowledge and more service.
Less of dogmatic theology and more of human kindness.
Less of impounded water and more of irrigation upon the land.

* * *

Granaries are useful because they may contain grain for use.
Not because the walls of them bulge out with unused harvest store.
Religion is useful for the good it does.
Not for the contentions it may foment.
Education is good for the harvest of usefulness it brings.
Not merely as excelsior to stuff a lay figure with.

* * *

Of what use is a seed that is never germinated to help with the harvest?
An education that does not produce its share of wealth in the world?
A religion that does not stir the human heart to kindly and helpful deed?
Of what use is abstraction anyway?
It is the concrete thing the world needs.



SONGS OF THE POST'S POETS

TWENTY YEARS HENCE— By Walter Savage Landor.

Twenty years hence my eyes may grow,
If not quite dim, yet rather so;
Yet yours from others they shall know,
Twenty years hence.

Twenty years hence, though it may hap
That I be called to take a nap
In a cool cell where thunder-clap
Never was heard.

There breathe but o'er my arch of grass,
A not too sadly sighed "Alas!"
And I shall catch, ere you can pass,
That wing-ed word.

OIL FOR BRITISH NAVY FROM BRITISH COAL

Great Britain could produce enough oil for its navy and merchant marine from home mined coal if the necessity arose. This was revealed by Dr. C. H. Lander of the Fuel Research board at the recent meeting of the British Association for the Advancement of Science.

Production of oil from home resources is extremely important to Great Britain since an almost complete substitution of oil for coal has taken place in the navy and is being gradually followed by the merchant marine. Although coal, peat and shale can be made to yield liquid fuel, coal alone can be regarded as a possible source from which sufficient quantities could be produced by practical methods.

A ton of average bituminious coal will yield 14 gallons of fuel oil, or about 6 per cent by weight of the raw material used. For every 1,000,000 tons of oil produced 16,000,000 tons of coal will be used and will yield also some 11,000,000 tons of coke and 56,000,000 cubic feet of rich hydrocarbon gas, so that if a satisfactory low temperature process of carbonization prove feasible the 35,000,000 tons of coal used annually for domestic purposes would produce some 2,1000,000 tons of oil, more than the peace requirements of the navy, and leave an enormous amount of manufactured fuel which it would be necessary to induce domestic consumers to use in place of raw coal.

The phrase "Isn't it dusty on the ocean today" is no joke to the weather experts. Willis Edwin Hurd, of the U. S. weather bureau, has an explanation for recent accounts of dust found on ships in the North Atlantic hundreds of miles from land.

Some seamen sighting a fine white haze near the West Indies attributed it to volcanic origin. Checking up all the incidents of this kind reported about the same time from other ships, Mr. Hurd concludes that the dust came from some African desert, was carried to sea, and there caught up in the northerly and easterly winds of the trade belt.

Last year a similar instance was reported from the Yellow Sea at the time of a severe storm over the Mongolian desert. Dust from Australia has been borne a distance of about 1,500 miles to New Zealand. It has been calculated that the total amount of dust swept by the sirocco from the Sahara desert to Europe year after year during the last 30 centuries is equivalent to an average of at least 5½ inches. Indeed, the Sahara dust has been distributed not only over Europe but over parts of Africa, Asia, and the Atlantic ocean.

EASTERN POINT OF VIEW

THE LONG-SUFFERING PRESIDENT

[New York Times]

A Washington correspondent telegraphs that from now on Mr. Harding will cease to be a mediator in the strikes, and will become again President of the United States. If this implies that he was not President while mediating, or that it was not his duty to seek a settlement, the country will not assent. It has followed with sympathy Mr. Harding's efforts exhausting every possibility of conciliation and compromise. It has seen him hazard his personal and political prestige in the endeavor, and even risk bringing his great office under criticism. But he has put up with all this as he doubtless will put up in silence with the disrespectful tone of the railway unions in their latest reply to him. They say: "We are unable to understand why, after we had accepted your own terms of agreement you should now request us to accept a proposal which is directly in conflict with your former proposed agreement."

Labor leaders addressing such language to the President of the United States must be strangely indifferent to public opinion. The people know that Mr. Harding has worked night and day in what he believed to be the general interest; has been willing to efface himself, or injure himself politically; and that if his labors have been in vain, his intentions and readiness to make sacrifices have been beyond question. Doubtless, as President, he will soon give an account of his work as mediator. Whatever is to be said of it, there is certainly no justification in it for the almost insulting words with which the labor leaders addressed him.

COMMENT ON DAY'S NEWS

By HENRY JAMES

"All may enjoy longevity and live more than a hundred years, if they will attend to their own business, sing at their work, and keep busy."

HENRY JAMES

In these simple words a centenarian explains how she did it, and how others may if they choose. Of course, so far as observation has taught anything, there is no merit in the lady's proclamation. Living a century is mostly a matter of accident and luck. The chief requirement is a constitution of iron. This is demonstrated by the circumstance that men who deliberately plan to become centenarians, invariably fail to arrive. The occasional centenarian, who is able to treat the subject lucidly when the reporter calls upon him, will confess, if wholly frank, that he is as surprised as delighted at survival, and possibly, surprise is the stronger emotion.

Many of the oldest persons known had in earlier years endured privations that would have killed another less remarkably endowed with strength and power of resistance. More often than not, the old folks have ignored every precise rule of diet, sanitation and exercise. Some have used tobacco and liquors all their lives. Others have not, and the latter ascribe immunity to their abstention.

One man is born to free a race. One has the mission of inventing a flying machine. Here and there is one with the magic voice of the singer, or the bard who writes gloriously about a midnight star. Then there is the rare individual who is born to be a centenarian.

A committee has been appointed to investigate the coal situation, particularly in relation to strikes. Such a committee may be useful, not in discovering facts, but in setting them forth in a concrete fashion that might be a basis for future regulation. Everybody knows that miners are required to work under conditions often almost intolerable, and that operators make all the profit possible to squeeze from the distressed public. Everybody also is aware that when there is a strike, the miners lose, the operators gain, and the public pays the bill. It may be added that in case of a coal strike no consideration whatever is paid the consumer.

* * *

The great oil companies are embarrassed. They are making so much money that intelligent disposal of the profits becomes a serious question. As a first measure, they are considering a plan to put the vast surplus into such shape that no part of it will go for taxes. Truly the oil gentlemen are thoughtful individuals.

Occasionally the spirit of adventure leads its possessor astray. For instance, a stranger in Los Angeles was invited to sit into a poker game. He did so. When after a few hands, he had won $500, and proposed to quit, his playmates stuck a pair of pistols at his belt buckle and dissuaded him. In the process they got the $500, and the $16 which had been the invited guest's original capital. There are plenty of such games available in every large and wicked city.

An admiring editor writes of "California the Siren." Doubtless he means well, but sirens have not particularly good standing. They are charged with the form of trickery known in vulgar circles as giving the double cross. They woo, but they do not mean business. Their lips are honeyed, but they lie, albeit in mild and alluring tones. Many years ago a poet wrote:

"The subtlest tempter hath the smoothest style,
Sirens sing sweetest when they would betray."

There positively is nothing Californian in that fashion. California calls all right, and the call is answered, but it doesn't put up any siren jobs on anybody.

WATCHING THE PARADE

BY JOHN PILGRIM

The old warrior has just bought another business. This makes four he has bought in the year. If the present spurt keeps up he will be able to pay cash for his next business.

"Not that I ever will," he said. "I will not pay cash for anything. That is the cardinal rule of success."

A year ago he was broke as flat as a dropped egg. He had been caught on the wrong side of the market, the doctors had been taking carbuncles out of his system, and some of the folks who owed him money had gone flooey. Yet, when he saw a good chance to buy a good business, he made his bargain right off the bat.

"I'll pay you so much cash——"

The reason why is that for years he has built up an elaborate credit system. He is continually borrowing money from the bank. Ten years ago he was only able to borrow $100 at a time. Now he can borrow $40,000. The security is what it was ten years ago—his word.

"I think that is against the banking law," says the old warrior, "but I should worry. They let me have the money when I need it."

When he began to do business for himself, he realized that if he could make 10 per cent. on money and borrow it for seven, he could net 3 per cent. on as much money as he could borrow. But bankers are unimaginative. It is the borrower and not the business that interests them.

So the old warrior began to educate his bankers to trust him. They only trusted him a little at first. There were times when he did not need money and he borrowed anyhow, just to keep them in the habit.

"I haven't a thousand dollars, net, in the world," said the old warrior. "The market certainly did trim me. But I can handle a bigger chance than many a man who has had thousands of dollars on deposit in my bank for years. I have credit. They have nothing but cash."
